FINAL OBSTACLE GONE, WAR DEBT AGREEMENT REACHED BY EXPERTS

Belgium Accepts Plan of Schacht for Mark Redemption.

PACT TO BE SIGNED FRIDAY OR SATURDAY

Report Then Will Be Sent to Governments for Ratification.

YOUNG SOON TO SAIL FOR UNITED STATES

Delegates Smile as Task Ends, but Not All Are Happy Over Terms.

Paris, June 4 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The World War passed into history today even more definitely than with the signing of the treaty of Versailles when financial experts of Germany, the allies and the United States reached final and complete accord on how the Reich is to wipe out its war obligations.

Approval of the final settlement of the reparations problem, with which the governments have wrestled for more than ten years, became unanimous when the Belgian delegates to the committee of experts accepted the proposal of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's chief spokesman, as to the procedure to be followed in settling Belgium's claim for marks left in Belgium by the German army of occupation. Belgium is asking $5,955,000 annually for 37 years as reimbursement for these marks, which she was forced to exchange against francs and which became valueless through depreciation of German currency.

Young Sails Saturday.

The experts' final report, embodying the schedule of annuities which Owen D Young, American chairman of the committee, suggested Germany should pay, will probably be signed Friday or Saturday. Mr. Young sails for home Saturday on the Aquitania, worn out by his labors during the negotiations that have been under way nearly four months, but happy in the knowledge that his tact and skill as a negotiator have played a leading part in bringing Germany and her creditors to a final settlement.

When the smiling delegates to the conference left the Hotel George V today after a plenary session, the following succint communique was made public:

"A plenary session of the committee was held this afternoon, an agreement on all substantial points having been reached. The committee will now undertake the prompt completion of the report in expectation that it may be ready for signature before the end of the week."

When signed, this report will be offered to the governments concerned for ratification.

Marks Settlement Hoped.

It is hoped that before it is ready for signature Dr. Erwin Ritter and Camille Gutt, appointed by Berlin and Brussels, respectively, to negotiate the marks settlement, may have come to an agreement on the marks question which both their governments will approve.

The marks must be settled for in a manner satisfactory to Belgium or the Young plan for liquidation of Germany's total indebtedness will not go into effect.

As Dr. Schacht left the Hotel George V this evening after the final decision had been taken, he said:

"You ask me if I am glad? Can any man be pleased with himself when the results of months of discussion is to ask his government to pay $500,000,000 annually for 37 years?"

As Eupen and Malmedy, which were given to Belgium by the peace treaty, have repeatedly been mentioned as Germany's price for settling the marks question, Dr. Schacht was asked:

"Will Eupen and Malmedy come up in future discussions?"

Germans Make Hot Retort.

Germany's spokesman at the Paris reparations parleys replied:

"We Germans have never brought up the names of Eupen and Malmedy, as we are accused of having done, but during the course of previous negotiations Emil Franqui (chief Belgian delegate)—yes, Franqui himself— offered to give us back Eupen and Malmedy as part of a settlement."

This statement was later denied by the Belgian delegation, who are still insistent that Belgium must receive from Germany as reimbursement for the marks, $5,955,000 annually for 37 years.

The Germans have already given notice that they will not negotiate on that basis, but will insist upon the discussions starting from the beginning.

The Young plan is being practically rewritten by the subcommittee headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, chief British delegate. The draft is the fourth one that has been made.

It is presumed in conference circles that the question of whether or not

Soucek Goes to 38,500 Feet in Try at Record

Harris & Ewing.

Rear Admiral William A. Moffett bidding good-by to Lieut. Apollo Soucek just before the latter's attempt yesterday to break the seaplane altitude record.

May Have Beaten by Small Margin Seaplane Altitude Mark.

Lieut. Apollo Soucek, U. S. N., yesterday flew a Wright Apache naval seaplane to an altimeter height of 38,500 feet in what may have been a successful attempt to break the existing world record of 37,995 feet, held by Lieut. C. C. Champion, U. S. N.

It will be several days before the barographs carried by Lieut. Soucek are calibrated by the Bureau of Standards, however, and their findings may show that Champion's record still stands. According to rules of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, supreme authority on recognizing airplane records, the previous mark must be bettered by 100 meters, or 320 feet, before the new height can be recognized as official. Soucek said he doubted that he had made sufficient altitude to break the record.

Lieut. Soucek flew the same plane in which, on May 8, he broke the world's record for land planes, with an official height of 39,140 feet. The plane, a Wasp-motored Wright Apache, was equipped with floats and wing pontoons to replace its wheels, so it would fit into the seaplane class for the test.

STEPFATHER IS SHOT BY FRONT ROYAL MAN

Attempted to Make Estranged Wife Return to Him, Officers Are Told.

3 BULLETS TAKE EFFECT

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., June 4.—Dan Jenkins, of Hagerstown, Md., was shot and seriously wounded here today by his stepson, William Kidwell, an enlisted man at the Front Royal Remount Depot. The shooting was staged in Kidwell's home and is said to have followed efforts on Jenkins' part to get his wife, Kidwell's mother, to return to Hagerstown. Mrs. Jenkins left her husband some time ago and came here to live with her son.

Jenkins has been here several times in the past few weeks trying to get his wife to return to Hagerstown, and had been repeatedly warned by Kidwell to stay out of his home, county officers learned. Today Jenkins came to Front Royal in a taxicab driven by M. L. Keyser, of Hagerstown. Keyser told the county officers that when they arrived at Kidwell's home Jenkins alighted and took off his coat and started to enter the house. Persons who lived next door warned Jenkins to stay out of the house, but Jenkins stated he was going in anyway, Keyser said.

Kidwell met Jenkins at the door and told him to stay out, but the foster pa-

VESUVIUS ERUPTION HITS VALLEY AGAIN

Towns Abandoned as 6-Foot Lava Stream Pours Down Side of Volcano.

EXPERTS' GUESS WRONG

Naples, June 4 (A.P.).—Mount Vesuvius burst into a new and more violent eruption tonight after a brief period when the disturbance seemed to have come to an end. For an hour the eruptive cone sent a gigantic wave of lava into "the Valley of Hell" and shot a barrage of red hot stones high into the air over the crater. No injuries were reported.

The Vesuvian Conservatory calculated that during the last 48 hours 3,000,000 cubic meters of lava had poured from the crater, which is about half that emitted during the destructive eruption of 1906.

The inhabitants had evacuated Barre and part of Terzigno and fled panic-stricken, burdened by their household and personal effects, to Torre Annunziata on the Gulf of Naples. The glowing liquid rock tonight was only a few yards from the abandoned homes in Barre and destruction of the village seemed inevitable within a few hours unless rapid cooling halted the lava stream.

The eruption began yesterday, predictions of experts that it would gradually wear itself out without causing serious damage were contradicted this morning by a sudden bursting forth of the molten mass at the tremendous velocity of ten feet a second.

Canada-to-U. S. Rum Cargo Cut Two-Thirds in Month

Clearance Report Shows 406,988-Gallon Drop Last Month.

(United Press.)

Liquor-laden vessels clearing from Canadian ports for the United States have decreased their cargoes greatly within recent months, figures made public by the Customs Service revealed yesterday.

An official report prepared for Assistant Treasury Secretary Seymour Lowman shows liquor shipments cleared decreased from 607,102 gallons in March of this year to 200,114 gallons in April. Tentative figures for May show a still further large reduction in liquor clearances.

In the opinion of Frank Dow, Acting Commissioner of Customs, the approximately 75 per cent drop in liquor clearances for the United States is attributable to efficiency of the reorgan-

CANCER CENTER FOR EVERY CITY HELD REQUIRED

Cornell Pathologist Urges Radium Treatment by Philanthropists' Aid.

FURTHER RESEARCH DECRIED AS USELESS

Centralization of Experts for Institutional Public Service Advocated.

PHILIPPINES CALLED MENINGITIS SOURCE

State and Provincial Health Officers Urge Immigration Bar; Close Parley.

(Associated Press.)

New hope of controlling cancer in the United States was held out yesterday by Dr. James Ewing, head of the pathology department of Cornell University and a student of the disease for more than twenty years.

Addressing the closing session of the annual convention of State and provincial health officers with the Public Health Service, Dr. Ewing outlined a program of cancer control through "cancer institutions," located in all large cities, each equipped with $500,000 to $1,000,000 worth of radium treatment apparatus, a staff of surgeons and other scientific experts. He declared that such institutions must and will be established in a few years through State health departments, with financial assistance from philanthropists.

Delegates to the conference all advocated shutting off immigration from the Philippine Islands in order to control what was termed "the most serious outbreak of cerebrospinal meningitis since the World War."

Will Be Used as Last Resort.

Surgeon Gen. Cumming, however, later declared he would recommend this measure only as a last resort and that he hoped it would not be necessary.

The average number of meningitis cases reported weekly this year, it was pointed out, has been between 120 and 140, while during the past few years the weekly average had been 20 to 30 cases. The outbreak has been manifested in all portions of the country, it was said, and its origin has been traced to steamships bringing Filipinos suffering from it to Pacific Coast ports. Some steamers were said to have brought the disease from the Orient, but the large majority have come from the Philippines.

Asserting that cancer institutions are "the only hope" of controlling the malady, Dr. Ewing said they present a much brighter outlook than any other thing yet suggested. He contended radium treatments alone, surgery alone, or the two together, out of the hands of experts, would prove unavailing.

Causes Held Unsolvable.

"Already pure research on the cause of cancer is thoroughly organized," he said. "The actual cause of cancer, in my opinion, is unsolvable in the present state of science. Expenditure of more money on pure research will prove futile, and I believe that philanthropists who would assist the cause of cancer control will turn their funds into this more practical plan."

Descriptive knowledge already possessed by experts, however, is sufficient to cure hundreds of cancer cases that now prove fatal, Dr. Ewing continued. He said cancer institutions already have been established in Sweden, and that England recently set aside $2,000,000 for radium which is to be used in similar centers located in various parts of that country.

The institutions, with educational centers, he said, would distribute to the public information such as the early symptoms of the various forms of the disease. They would insure free diagnosis and thus early treatment, and would prove the best possible treatment by expert surgeons and radiologists, he added.

Close Race for Congress In Pennsylvania District

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 4 (A.P.).—The lead in the special election held today to choose a successor to the late Representative John J. Casey from the Twelfth Congressional District wavered between Mrs. Sarah L. Casey, Democratic and Labor candidate to succeed her husband, and Dr. C. Murray Turpin, Republican, as returns were tabulated tonight. With 384 of 396 districts heard from, the vote was, Mrs. Casey, 31,431; Turpin, 31,529.

DIXIE SENATORS DODGE BANQUET OF DEMOCRATS

Many Southern Leaders "Otherwise Engaged" on Feast Night.

HOSTILITY TO RASKOB DOMINANCE IS VOICED

DINNER IS PROMOTED BY DISTRICT MOGULS

Opponents Declare Event Will Only Emphasize Differences Within the Party.

(United Press).

Southern Democratic leaders will be conspicuous by their absence at the Democratic dinner here next Monday night at which the national committee chairman, John J. Raskob, who managed Alfred E. Smith's Presidential campaign, will make a speech.

The invitations arrived at the Capital yesterday. An inquiry disclosed that many prominent Southern Democratic recipients have "other engagements" for that night or did not know whether they would go, although the dinner is advertised as a meeting of party leaders, the first since the campaign, to formulate plans under the new organization set up here under Jouett M. Shouse, in whose honor the dinner is given.

Southern Democrats are not hostile to Mr. Shouse, who is new chairman of the executive committee. Raskob is the reason. Some object personally to his continued leadership, while others who have no strong feelings about him and who espoused the Smith cause in the campaign, fear the political reaction in their States. Some senators and all representatives are up for reelection next year.

While disclosing that they would not be present, several Southern senators, with one exception, did not care to say anything publicly. The exception was Senator Cole Blease, of South Carolina, who commented:

Why Blease Won't Attend.

"I don't care about a reorganization that's in the hands of the Smith crowd. I've been with them about as far as I care to go."

"This is no time to parade Raskob," said another.

None of the Southern Senators who were approached signified their intention of attending. Those who did not have "other engagements" or who were not going to be out of the city at the time, said they had not decided.

Not all Southern senators could be reached. Among those who signified they will not be present are Glass, Virginia; Smith, South Carolina; Simmons, North Carolina; Harris Georgia; Blease, South Carolina, and George, Georgia, who was a candidate for the presidential nomination at Houston. Sheppard.

Fess' Son Fired On In Mystery Attack

Senator's Kin Reports Two Shots Aimed at Car on Ohio Road.

Hamilton, Ohio, June 4 (A.P.).—C. Sumner Fess, New York, son of Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, stopped at Hamilton police headquarters tonight on his way to Cincinnati and reported that two shots had been fired at him from a passing automobile when he reached the approach to the bridge over Gregory Creek, between Hamilton and Middletown.

Fess was alone. He had checked the speed of his machine to make a sharp turn onto the bridge when two shots were fired and two bullets whizzed past his head. He was uninjured. Hamilton police could suggest no motive, nor could Fess.

Police here said the machine might have been mistaken for that of a gangster and declared they believed the shooting was done by bootleggers, who recently have killed several people in Hamilton. Fess continued on his way back after making the report.

DR. HUBERT WORK.

President Pays Tribute to Long Service He Has Rendered Nation.

WRITES PARTY OWES DOCTOR "DEEP DEBT"

Former Cabinet Man Has Long Wanted to Be Relieved of Job.

DOUBT EXISTS OVER NAME OF SUCCESSOR

Ralph Williams, Franklin Fort and Daniel Pomeroy Mentioned as Possibilities.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Dr. Hubert Work yesterday announced his resignation, to take effect in the fall, as chairman of the Republican national committee.

The announcement was made after a three-hour conference with President Hoover, after which the usual exchange of letters was made public. The doctor later explained that his action had been contemplated for a long time and the President said in his letter that he knew, of course, that he had accepted the chairmanship conditional upon his retirement soon after the election. The announcement, nevertheless, was pretty much a political bombshell.

The file of correspondence made public on the doctor's part included a letter to the President and one to the members of the national committee. That to the President read:

Work's Letter to Hoover.

"Herewith copy of a letter I am today sending to members of the Republican national committee. The date indicated for calling the committee together will give to you and its members adequate time to select my successor.

"The last eight years of our close official association has been a period of supreme satisfaction, and it is, of course, a matter of greatest pride to me that you are now secure in the world's highest executive position."

The letter to the national committeemen said that he had prepared his resignation for submission at their meeting here last March 5 but "was dissuaded from presenting it at that time."

"I did not then, nor do I now, desire to continue through the approaching campaign, which should be inaugurated next winter," he continued, and concluded:

"Early in the fall I shall call the committee together to select my successor and to discuss plans for conducting the approaching campaign. This interval will allow adequate time for the consideration of these important matters."

The President replied:

President Voices Gratitude.

"I intensely regret your determination to resign the chairmanship of the Republican national committe. I am, of course, aware that when you accepted the chairmanship last June, you made it conditional on your retirement soon after election, and I deeply appreciate your willingness to continue on at my urgent request. I fully realize your desire that someone else should undertake the increasing burdens and anxieties of the party chairmanship which are imposed by each new campaign.

"Beyond my own appreciation of your great services the Republican party owes you a deep debt for its accomplishments under your direction, for there has never been a campaign conducted with greater success or upon a higher plane, or one that has proved itself so far above all criticism.

"Your have given many years of distinguished public service and I know your reluctance to undertake further burdens, but I am in hopes that you will some time in the future be willing to again return to public life."

Rift Suggestion Far-Fetched.

Inevitably there will be suggestions that the doctor's action means a split

CALIFORNIA WOMAN IS HAMMER VICTIM

Banker's Wife Found Hanging in Closet, Beaten to Death in Mystery.

POLICE HUNT RADIO MAN

Los Angeles, Calif., June 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Frank Patty, a banker's wife, was found beaten to death here today. Police ordered the arrest of William C. Tallman, former employe of a radio broadcasting company in San Francisco.

Mrs. Patty's body was found hanging in a closet in an apartment. She apparently had been beaten with a hammer. Her skirt had been used to hang the body to a hook.

Little was known of the circumstances leading to the slaying.

Mrs. E. Lowell, manager of the apartment house, said a man about 25 years old, slender and of light complexion had rented the apartment recently under the name of W. C. Johnson. Mrs Lowell knew nothing about a woman and the discovery of the body was the first intimation one had been in the apartment.

Patty, connected with a Portland, Oreg., bank, said he had lived here with his wife three years. He said he returned yesterday from a trip north and, failing to find his wife, set out to meet her this morning. He collapsed when told of her death.

Mrs. Patty was described as "young and red-haired." The bruised condition of her hands indicated she had fought her assailant desperately. In San Francisco the former employers of Tallman said he was employed by the broadcasting company as a radio operator until last January. Officials of this company said he was of a reticent nature and had few acquaintances.

Tallman today left San Pedro aboard the steamer Admiral Benson for his home in Oakland, Calif. He denied all knowledge of the murder and said he had not seen Mrs. Patty since last Thursday.

In Oakland Tallman's father, Harry Tallman, said his son told him that he

BOY, 9, TELLS JURY HOW HE SLEW YOUTH

Gun Went Off by Accident When He Leveled It, He Says on Witness Stand.

HELD FOR DEATH BEFORE

Springfield, Ill., June 4 (U.P.).—His voice rising and falling in childish prattle, 9-year-old Jimmy Harrison, nephew of a Springfield policeman, today told the story of his second and latest slaying to a coroner's jury of six Springfield business men.

After a three-hour session, during which Jimmy was allowed to brandish a long-barreled .45-caliber revolver to demonstrate how last Wednesday, in the gathering gloom of a May evening, he leveled the revolver at Norman Reese Conwill, 16, and put a bullet through his lungs, the coroner's jury returned a verdict holding young Harrison to the Sangamon County Juvenile Court for further action.

Jimmy, who left the room in tears because he wanted to "go home," was not present when the verdict was returned. Even had he heard the jury's findings it would have meant little to him. Jimmy plainly was oblivious to the proceedings.

He paid but little attention to preliminary character witnesses who told of the disappearance of the death gun from a neighbor's home, the neighborhood confusion when Conwill's body was found, of the search for Jimmy, which terminated an hour later in his bedroom, and of his subsequent "confession."

Jimmy then began his testimony.

He spoke clearly but slowly, often becoming exasperated when one question was put to him a number of times. Until the last, he clung to his story that the Conwill boy, in attempting to disarm him, grabbed the barrel of the revolver and it exploded without warning.

Coroner Dye, after examining the death gun closely, handed it to Jimmy, asking him to reenact the killing. Leveling the weapon in the faces of the

First Degree Murder Count Filed Against Mrs. Cassler

Mother and Son Go on Stand and Deny She Slew Cameola Soutar.

Valparaiso, Ind., June 4 (A.P.).—A charge of first degree murder was placed against Mrs. Catherine Cassler tonight for the death of Cameola Soutar, her young rival for her husband's affections.

Under first degree murder charges Mrs. Cassler is not eligible for bail. Shortly after the arraignment in justice court Mrs. Cassler's attorneys obtained a hearing before Judge Grant Crumpacker in circuit court on a writ of habeas corpus. Mrs. Cassler, however, was sent back to jail by Judge Crumpacker, who merely granted the attorneys the right to interview her in jail.

between him and the President. But it is impossible to conjure up anything over which such a split could have occurred, and there was, furthermore, everything about the doctor's manner after the announcement of his resignation to indicate that he was at peace with the world.

He has only recently returned from a trip to Europe. He had, in fact, not been back in the picture long enough for anything to happen on which he and the President could seriously disagree.

The President's reference to Dr. Work having assumed the chairmanship only on condition that he be permitted to give it up soon after the election, and the doctor's statement that he wanted to resign March 5 will be generally greeted with surprise.

The impression that has generally obtained is that he had most ambitious plans for making the national committee a permanently "going concern," rather than a machine hastily tightened up for work at election time. It was believed to be his idea, in fact, that it should serve as an all-time aid to the President, an administration adjunct.

May Have Lost Illusions.

But his reply to this is that he has placed the organization on such a basis.

There is, in fact, nothing on which to base any conclusion as to the reason for his action other than that he is tired and wants to rest. It is possible that his weariness may have been accentuated by disillusionment as to the place of his national committee in the administration's scheme of things, but this is simply hazarding a guess.

The doctor aspired to no Cabinet place, or, in fact, any place in the administration other than that of national chairman. In his day dreams he is believed to have thought of the post of Secretary of State, but it was rather that this was the only post that he would for a moment consider than any desire for it. He served in the Cabinet for eight years and in two positions, that of Postmaster General and Secretary of the Interior.

After all the doctor is 69 years old and in his long service in Washington has been heaped with political abuse. The doctor's quiet manner, his serenity in the face of any and everything made him frequently the selection when someone was needed to take the gaff.

Most public men here have at least one newspaper man confidante on whom they can occasionally pour out their grievances. The doctor had not a one and it is because of this that it was always hard to tell what really went on in his mind.

Those Campaign Rumors.

Mr. Work and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt ran a race for the headlines during the recent campaign and by turns they were depicted as having been squelched. It was a favorite story of the campaign maze that the doctor was not really directing the campaign; that Mr. Hoover was his own generalissimo. If this was true it was because Mr. Hoover would have been his own directing genius regardless of who was the committee chairman.

But it has become apparent, now that the smoke of the battle has cleared away, that the President depends quite heavily upon those surrounding him, so there is no reason to assume that he did not call upon the doctor for his share of advice in the campaign.

It is true that Postmaster General Brown, Walter Newton and James Francis Burke seem to be the political triumvirate closest to the throne now, and one of them must sooner or later emerge to sit at the right. And it may be that in this race the doctor was left a little behind. But they are all younger than Work, and he could hardly hope to keep up. The fact that he went away to Europe in these trying times when men will be made and broken would seem to indicate this he was not greatly worried.

Early Hoover Supporter.

It should be generally agreed that Mr. Hoover owes the doctor a lot. If he did nothing else he took hold of Mr. Hoover's campaign back in those dark preconvention campaign days and so manipulated it that it was given the air of the White House campaign. This was what got the nomination for Mr. Hoover.

Also, had it not been for the doctor after the nomination it is hard to tell what those heterogenous elements that accrued to the Hoover candidacy would have done. Many of them in their strange company were outraged time and again, but they could not, of course, vent their spleen upon Mr. Hoover, so they turned in on Dr. Work. There is not a wrinkle in his quiet charm today to show that he felt it. That is his way.

Discussion as to his possible successor is purely speculative. Ralph Williams, of Oregon, and Daniel E. Pomeroy, of New Jersey, vice chairmen, come to mind, but there is no way of telling whether Mr. Hoover may go outside of the organization for his man. Representative Franklin W. Fort, of New Jersey, is also suggested. The position would help him in his aspirations for the New Jersey governorship or in the event Senator Edge becomes Ambassador to France, his senatorial seat.

It is not likely that Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, of Kentucky, also a vice chairman of the committee, will be advanced. It was Dr. Work's chivalrous suggestion that she was good Cabinet timber that brought him in for a lot of jibes. The doctor never had the faculty of getting his ideas over to the newspaper boys. It was their loss, because his inward observations on Washington and its ways are rich.

WITNESSES AT ODDS OVER LIQUOR KILLING

OFFICER TELLS OF CHASE

Abingdon, Va., June 4 (A.P.).—The State rested its case late today in the trial of James W. Crowe, Washington County deputy sheriff, one of three officers charged with murder for the fatal shooting of J. W. Kendrick, Emory and Henry College student, in an attempt to stop an automobile on the highway. James McReynolds, an Abingdon city policeman, who, with W. H. Worley, another deputy sheriff, was with Crowe at the time of the shooting, testified that the automobile in which young Kendrick, Paul Phelps and Sterling Dutton were riding, refused to halt at the command of officers. Phelps and Dixon testified that they were not ordered to halt.

McReynolds said he came to a garage in Abingdon shortly before the shooting with Crowe and Worley and that Phelps left the garage to get in an automobile and drive away. Dutton hurriedly followed, he said, and McReynolds asked his son, who was employed in the garage, if the two young men had been drinking. He said his son told him they were staggering and that he believed they were drinking.

McReynolds said he and the other officers started in pursuit and that the automobile they were looking for came from behind and passed them on the road toward Bristol, the officers running by it later while it was parked on the side of the road. He said both machines turned around, but that the officers passed again, halted and got out, waving flashlights and calling to the occupants to halt. McReynolds said he was wearing a policeman's uniform and badge.

Some automobiles then passed, McReynolds continued, almost running over him. He said that either Crowe or Worley, or both, fired, but that he did not fire. The fleeing automobile did not stop.

McReynolds was preceded on the stand by his son, Henry McReynolds, who related the actions of the boys at the garage. The younger McReynolds said that he thought Phelps and Dutton were drinking and that Kendrick was not with them at the garage where they obtained the gasoline. Policeman McReynolds testified that he did not see Kendrick with the two when they passed the officers' car on the highway toward Bristol.

Phelps and Dutton, who said they were not waved down and had not been ordered to halt, denied having any whisky with them or having had any during the night.

Earl Crabtree, a bank clerk, summoned by the State, who said he was driving in an automobile and only about 60 yards away at the time of the shooting, said that the officers' automobile was stopped behind the automobile containing the boys when he saw the shots fired by men standing in the road. Crabtree said he drove rapidly into Abingdon, passing both automobiles, and called the sheriff, telling him that he thought there was a holdup on the Bristol highway.

Dutton testified that the automobile containing the officers did not pass, but ran up alongside and then dropped back before the shooting began.

Great interest continued in the trial today. The courthouse was crowded.

Four Fellowships Established at G. U.

Will Do Research Work in Medicine and Denistry in New Building.

Students and faculty members at the Georgetown University Schools of Medicine and Dentistry have established four research fellowships, it was announced yesterday, in connection with the broadening of research work in these departments upon the completion of the new building on Reservoir road to be dedicated Sunday afternoon.

One fellowship in medicine was founded by the members of the senior medical class, of which John DeButts Wynkoop is president. Two fellowships in dentistry were contributed by the dental faculty and a third by the dental student body as an indication of their interest in the development of the school.

Announcement also was made by the Rev. Walter G. Summers, regent of the dental and medical departments, that a resident dental interne would be introduced at Georgetown University Hospital next year, the object being to bring about a better coordination of clinical dental work in connection with medical diagnosis.

Flier Sees Yacht, Held Lindbergh's

Airplane, With Newspaper Camera Men, Circles Boat Near Boston.

Quincy, Mass., June 4 (U.P.).—A motor yacht, believed to be the Mouette, on which Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are spending their honeymoon, was sighted by an aviator about 3 miles off Boston Light late today.

Earlier in the day the Mouette had suddenly weighed anchor and slipped out of the harbor at Woods Hole, after spending last night there.

When the yacht was first sighted late today by Leslie Shealy, aviator, and two newspaper photographers who were flying with him, it was headed toward Quincy Bay. As their plane swooped down and began circling the craft at a low altitude, the yacht turned suddenly and headed in a northeasterly direction. Shealy reported having seen a man and woman aboard the double-cabin cruiser. Although it was not possible to establish the identity of the yacht definitely, its description corresponded with that of the Mouette, Shealy said.

Woman and Former Pastor Found Dead

Clergyman Is Believed to Have Shot Both During Dementia.

Harrison, N. J., June 4 (A.P.).—The Rev. Paul Niezivinis, former pastor of the Church of Our Lady of Sorrows here, was found shot to death and a young woman seriously injured from bullet wounds tonight in the home of Mrs. Rose Silkaitu, whom the two were visiting. Police reported that the former pastor was found clutching a revolver and with a bullet wound in his head. Helen Olyta, 25 years old, of Kearny, lay a few feet away with two bullet wounds through her head.

Mrs. Silkaitu told authorities that Niezivinis had become demented about six months ago and left his pastorate to recover his health. He returned today and called at the Silkaitu home while Miss Olyta was present.

Mrs. Silkaitu stated that she went into the kitchen, leaving him and the young woman in the front room. Shortly afterward she heard three shots. She ran to the room and found both on the floor. Police said they believed Niezivinis had gone temporarily insane and shot the young woman and then himself.

Chinese Detained By Russian Troops

Soviet Acts as Thousands Flee Toward Manchuria After Consul's Arrest.

London, June 5 (Wednesday) (A.P.).—Russian troops were said by a Peking dispatch to the Express today to be massing on the Manchurian frontier to prevent thousands of Chinese from leaving Russian territory. The flight of the Chinese was in fear of arrest and deprivation of their belongings in retaliation for the arrest of Soviet officials in Manchuria.

The Rengo News Agency of Japan on Tuesday reported that Soviet Consul General N. K. Kuznetzoff, of Mukden, was under arrest at Hailar, and that intense anxiety was felt in the Harbin Soviet community, where a complete break between Russia and China was feared.

The strained relations between the two countries began with Chinese raids on Soviet consulates in search of documents to support charges that Communists were actively interfering in Chinese internal affairs. The raids were followed by a sharp note of protest by the Soviet, virtually suspending diplomatic immunity of Chinese officials in its territory.

Man Admits Killing Girl, 6, After Attack

Woodchopper, 36, Says He "Just Went Haywire" Before Murder.

Ukiah, Calif., June 4 (A.P.).—Sheriff R. R. Byrnes announced today that Tom Le Mew, 32, a woodchopper, confessed that he attacked and killed Teresa Johnson, 6, in the woods near Hendocino City last week.

"I just went haywire," Le Hew told Sheriff Byrnes, who said a formal charge of murder will be placed against the man.

In his confession Le Hew told of waiting for the child to walk through the woods on her way home from school. As she came down the path, with her school books and lunch box in her arms, Le Hew leaped upon the girl, attacked her and then choked her to death.

"Something is wrong with my head and my mind was in a daze at the time I killed the girl," Le Hew told Sheriff Byrnes.

REALLOTMENT PLAN PUTS BAN ON ALIENS

House Tentatively Amends Census Reapportionment Bill to Bar Nonvoters.

FINAL VOTE IS DEFERRED

(Associated Press.)

After tentatively accepting amendments which would exclude from the count upon which House reapportionment is to be based aliens and persons over 21 who are not permitted to vote, the House adjourned late yesterday without taking a final vote on the census-reapportionment bill.

Both of the amendments were opposed vigorously in debate and both are subject to another vote in the House before they are finally written into the measure. The alien proposal would affect the number of representatives allotted to Eastern and industrial States and the second proposal was considered as aimed at Southern States in which it has been contended that many negroes are not permitted to vote.

Exclusion of aliens originated with the Middle Western Republicans who have argued that if aliens were barred from the count, a reapportionment would have less effect upon the reduction of representation from their States. It was opposed by members from Eastern and industrial States on the ground that such an amendment was unconstitutional.

Protects Measure As a Whole.

In the form in which it was approved by the House, the amendment of Representative Hoch (Republican), Kansas, would provide that aliens not be considered in the count, but that if any section of the measure should be declared unconstitutional, the validity of the remainder of the act should not be affected.

Previously the House had approved an amendment by Representative Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, calling for a count of the number of aliens in the country, with a statement of whether they were in the United States legally.

The amendment relating to disfranchisement was offered by Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, long a contender that the fourteenth amendment was not being enforced. One similar to it had been defeated previously. Some of the members have contended that the effect of the amendment would be to make large reductions in the number of representatives in May, 1930, instead of November, 1929. Still another would make the census takers exempt from civil service regulations.

Violation of Constitution Feared.

Preceding the adoption of the Tinkham charges, the Massachusetts member contended that unless the provision were incorporated in the bill the measure would be in violation of the Constitution.

As the vote was taken, the Southern Democrats, joined by a sprinkling of Middle Western Republicans and a few Eastern Republicans, passed between the tellers to oppose the proposal. Most of the Republicans and a group of Eastern Democrats supported the amendment.

The announcement of the result threw the House in an uproar. Fox hunting yells arose from the Republican side of the chamber and Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, who had supported the proposal, raced across the well in front of the Speaker's rostrum to shake hands with the smiling Tinkham.

Iowa Police Hunt Washington Man

Self-Styled Scion of Rich Family Weds and Cashes Bad Check.

Davenport, Iowa, June 4 (A.P.).—Police are searching for Sherman Bradley, self-styled scion of a wealthy Washington, D. C., family and claiming to be head of the Bradley Manufacturing Co., of Washington, Denver and Jersey City, who married a prominent Davenport girl two weeks ago, after which he is alleged to have cashed a worthless check for $700 on a jeweler in payment for his engagement and wedding rings.

Bradley has not been seen since Monday. The check, which was on a Chicago bank, was returned when it was discovered he had no account there.

On May 22 Bradley was married to Miss Myra Muhs, daughter of a prominent Davenport couple, following a three-day courtship Mrs. Bradley said today that following their marriage she gave him $1,200 in cash when he said that a check which he was expecting from his attorney failed to arrive. She also claimed to have given him several hundred dollars' worth of silverware which he promised to send to New York to have engraved.

United Presbyterians Continue Merger Plans

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 4 (A.P.).—The General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church at its final session here today voted to continue negotiations for union with the Southern Presbyterian Church. The assembly voted down a proposal under which the Southern Church would have been asked to merge with the United Presbyterians.

As the matter now stands, the United Presbyterians will continue for another year at least their negotiations with the Southern Church and a new committee will open discussion of union with the Presbyterian Church.

RESIGNATION GIVEN KING BY BALDWIN

MacDonald Will Form Labor Government After Call at Castle Today.

U.S NAVAL PARLEY LOOMS

London, June 4 (U.P.).—Stanley Baldwin, leader of the defeated Conservative party, tendered his resignation as prime minister to King George at Windsor Castle today and it was accepted to make way for the second labor government in the history of Great Britain.

Ramsay MacDonald, whose Labor party won the general election last week, will go to Windsor Castle probably tomorrow to accept the crown's request that he form a new government. The illness of King George makes the exact time of his visit uncertain.

The Labor leader, whose party will be the strongest in the new House of Commons, but will not hold a majority over Conservatives and Liberals, conferred with his chief advisers this morning at the time Baldwin visited Windsor Castle.

MacDonald strongly favors a more active and assertive foreign policy, especially concerning relations with the United States and Soviet Russia. In view of the powerful opposition in the House of Commons, it is doubtful how far he will be able to proceed with his plans, but he has stated that one of his first moves would be to propose a formal conference with the United States regarding the whole question of naval power reduction, naval armaments, and freedom of the seas.

Probably the most radical point in the Labor foreign program is a declared willingness to renounce by international agreement the traditional claim of Great Britain to the right of blockade in war time as a private weapon. This has been a highly controversial point and is certain to arouse a bitter fight.

Newspaper speculation on the new Labor cabinet, which probably will be installed before the end of this week, presented the following line-up:

Prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald; foreign secretary, Arthur Henderson; chancellor of the exchequer, Phillip Snowden; home secretary, J. H. Thomas, lord chancellor, Lord Sankey; air minister, Lord Thomson; education, Sir Charles Trevelyan; labor, Tom Shaw; health, Arthur Greenwood; agriculture, Noel Buxton; first lord of the admiralty, Lord Chelmsford.

Windsor, England, June 4 (U.P.).—King George received the resignation of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin in his sick chamber at ancient Windsor Castle here today and, unless his condition prohibits, will ask Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, to form a new government tomorrow.

45 Rayon Mill Strikers Convicted of Picketing

Johnson City, Tenn., June 4 (A.P.).—Forty-five of the 52 defendants charged with picketing and violation of court injunction during the recent Elizabethton textile strike were convicted in chancery court here tonight. Three received the maximum penalty of ten days in jail and $50 fines and others were fined in amounts varying from $10 to $25.

In the decision, ending a joint trial which has been in progress for weeks, Chancellor S. E. Miller ruled that the use of national guardsmen to patrol the two rayon plants closed until recently by the strikes was legal and that the guardsmen were properly called as State police. Labor leaders have agitated for an investigation into the use of guardsmen.

GLASS SAYS HOOVER AIDED SPECULATORS

Senator Attacks President's Statement in Talk on Stock Gambling.

MANY REMEDIES URGED

(Associated Press.)

A general outburst against "the orgy of speculation" in the stock markets occurred yesterday in the Senate with the many critics prescribing almost as many different remedies for the situation.

The Federal Reserve Board was singled out especially for attacks, but President Hoover, Calvin Coolidge and various Government officials also came in for condemnation.

Investigations, a tax on stock market speculations, raising of the rediscount rate and amendment of the Federal Reserve act were advanced as means of checking the flow of billions of dollars through the market.

Senators Couzens (Republican), of Michigan, and Glass (Democrat), Virginia, were the most outspoken. They insisted the stock market dealings had attracted an excessive amount of capital at the expense of legitimate business.

Favors Tax on Transactions.

Senator Glass announced he would propose as an amendment to the pending tariff bill a 5 per cent tax on stock transactions which were held for less than 60 days. He announced he would favor repeal of the provision in the Federal Reserve act allowing loans on United States bonds for fifteen days.

Senator Couzens contended a raising of the rediscount rate by the Federal Reserve Board would have served to check the flow of money into the stock market. Senator Glass, however, opposed this move as a penalty to business, and he congratulated the Federal Reserve Board for resisting the "pounding" of the New York Federal Reserve Banak for a raise in the rediscount rate.

Glass Turns on President.

Senator Glass replied that "the President of the United States literally jumped into the stock pit" recently to declare that "there was nothing to be apprehended from this riot of $6,000,000,000 of credit in stock gambling."

Senator King (Democrat), Utah, said Calvin Coolidge while President had "expressed approval, certainly not disapproval, of the large amount then utilized, nearly $4,000,000,000, for stock gambling purposes."

"The fury of the debate finally drew Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader. He reminded the Senate there was "quite a difference of opinion as to what the board should do," and expressed an opinion that the large number of individuals and corporations sending money to the stock market to profit by the interest rates on call loans were as much responsible for the situation as the banks.

The debate preceded passage of an administration bill authorizing a new form of short-term securities by the Government to be sold at a discount rather than on an interest-bearing basis.

Best Girl Kisses Captain of Victorious Midshipmen's Company in Two Parades

Macon Youth Gets Extra Embrace at Drill for Movie Reel.

Annapolis Chief and Wife Receive Graduates at Garden Party.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 4.—Two kisses from his "best girl" were part of the reward that came today to Midshipman Manly Lamar Curry, of Macon, Ga., who commands the Seventh Company of the regiment of midshipmen that won the honor of carrying the national and regimental colors during the next academic term. The official kiss was the feature of the dress parade at 5:30 this afternoon, in line with an old tradition of the academy. The other marked a special parade of the like that was held on Worden Field this morning. The fair maiden who took part in the osculation is Miss Sarah Lucretia Varn, also of Macon.

The extra kiss all came about through the fact that the authorities of the academy arranged a special parade this forenoon for the benefit of a battery of cameramen, and the big crew of workmen of a film corporation that is including many June Week scenes in the new Navy picture called "The Salute," in which the local reservation forms a large part of the background. The drill was ordered to avoid interruption at the formal ceremony at 5:30.

Miss Varn Presents Colors.

At each of the ceremonies the several companies of the regiment executed various infantry formations and finally were drawn up at attention facing the reviewing stand. At the appointed time the winning company and its leader advanced closer to the stand and Miss Varn, holding to the arm of Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the academy, and accompanied by the squad of midshipmen color bearers, came forward and presented the flags. Then came the kiss. The ceremony was performed amid loud acclaim by the regiment, which gave a ringing cheer for the winning company, which was responded to by the victors.

The ceremony was part of a long romance, for it is said that Midshipman Curry and Miss Varn have been sweethearts since childhood.

The award of colors is based upon general efficiency in all branches of work, the competition covering the academic year.

From a social aspect, tonight's functions were the most interesting part of commencement week festivities, except that the farewell ball in honor of the graduates, to be given tomorrow night, will eclipse all in point of attendance. Three separate dancing parties got under way simultaneously tonight.

Superintendent Holds Reception.

Foremost of all was the garden party given by the superintendent and Mrs. Samuel S. Robison in honor of the graduates. This was held in the spacious grounds about the superintendent's home, which were aglow with light and color, Japanese lnaterns with their varied hues, alternated with electric bulbs strung here and there.

The superintendent and Mrs. Robison received the guests as they were presented by Lieut. Comdr. A. H. Rooks, official aid to the superintendent. It was strictly an invitation affair, the guests including the graduates, their girl friends and relatives and friends. Attendance, however, was close to 1,000.

Merit Roll Is Completed.

With the merit roll of the graduating class entirely made up, officials of the academy announced today that the number of midshipmen who will receive diplomas at commencement ceremonies Thursday morning will be 239, and that the actual number to be automatically commisioned ensigns in the regular line of the Navy will be 205. These figures are reached through the fact that nineteen members of the class have elected to accept commisions as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps, four others will be commissioned in the supply corps, and the resignations of eleveen others will be accepted because of physical disqualifications, defective eyesight being the chief cause.

Andrew McBurnie Jackson, jr., appointed from Louisiana, is leading the present second class which will comprise the seniors after graduation on Thursday, the merit roll compiled by authorities of the academy today shows. There are approximately 400 members of the class, 21 of whom are maintaining a "star" rating, that is, they have received a percentage of 85 or better for the course thus far.

The first ten "stars" include Jackson, and in order: Wellington T. Hines, of Kentucky; Lloyd H. Mulit, California; Philip C. Evans, Montana; Glendon D. Williams, Iowa; Stanley M. Alexander, Illinois; Oscar M. Browne, jr., Illinois; Richard T. Spoffard, Massachusetts; Griswold T. Atkins, Connecticut, and James H. Hean, Louisiana.

SOUCEK MAY HAVE SET ALTITUDE MARK

Aviator, in Seaplane, Reaches Unofficial Height of 38,500 Feet.

MARGIN IS CALLED CLOSE

which was conducted from the Naval Air Station at Anacostia, D. C.

The trip was uneventful, Soucek said last night, and presented none of the difficulties he encountered on his flight of three weeks ago. At that time he fell into a spin that carried him 2,000 feet before he could regain control of the plane, because his goggles frosted over in the rarified air and blinded him. For his attempt yesterday he wore a pair of electrically heated goggles developed by his brother, Lieut. Zeus Soucek, of the Naval Aircraft Factory at Philadelphia. The goggles are equipped with a heating element connected with the battery and, according to Soucek, were not affected by the rarified atmosphere or the great cold.

The day, according to the flier, was ideal for the attempt. Although he was comparatively lightly dressed, wearing, in addition to ordinary clothing, only a fur-lined flying suit, boots and helmet, he said he suffered no cold. There was nothing unusual in the test, which consumed an hour and 40 minutes.

When he reached the plane's roof, Lieut. Soucek said, he flew about at an altimeter altitude of 38,500 feet for about five minutes, trying to force his plane still higher. At the end of that time, convinced that it was impossible to better the mark shown by his instruments, he returned to his starting point, the Anacostia River.

Lieut. Soucek announced after the flight that if the supposed world record for land planes, believed to have been set by a German flier named Nuenhofen after Soucek's flight of May 8, was established as official, he will make an attempt to regain it. Nuenhofen flew to a height of 40,779 feet, according to German aeronautical authorities, which is more than 1,600 feet higher than Soucek's record.

Frederick P. Neely, of the National Aeronautical Association, official observer of the fleet, took charge of the barographs.

An interesting feature of the flight is the fact that Soucek, who is on duty in the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, will, if the seaplane record is bettered, have taken it from his immediate predecessor, Lieut. Campion.

SOUTHERN SENATORS WON'T ATTEND FEAST

Texas, author of the eighteenth amendment, and Ransde'l, Louisiana, said they had not decided. This affords a good cross-section. All of these men except Simmons went along with the party last fall.

An exception to the general rule was Representative Box, of Texas, who denounced Raskob in the House recently. He said he would attend.

Most Southern senators were not consulted about the dinner, which they regard, privately, as a mistake at this particular time, especially in view of the declaration of war against Smith and Raskob by Bishop James Cannon, jr., of Richmond, anti-Smith Southern leader for the Hoover forces, who has called a convention to nominate an anti-Smith Democratic candidate for governor in Virginia.

Dinner Called Untimely.

They say, privately, that things were going along all right; that party differences were being harmonized quietly. The dinner, they claim, will serve to emphasize party differences between the Smith and anti-Smith factions at a time when they should not be emphasized. They regard issues as shaping up well for the Democrats on the tariff and farm relief, and Democrats, they say, could unite on these issues and thus shove personal differences in the background.

The dinner is sponsored by the local Jefferson Democratic Association. The moving spirit behind it is said to be Robert N. Harper, local banker and strong Smith supporter. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, had a prominent part in arrangements. He likewise was a strong Smith supporter.

Senator Tydings, of Maryland, chairman of the senatorial campaign committee, and Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, will speak at the dinner. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader and 1928 vice presidential candidate, is out of the city. He is expected back late this week. His office did not know whether he will ateend.

MRS. CASSLER FACES CHARGE OF MURDER

VICTIM FOUND IN SWAMP

iam Lindstrom and was sentenced to death on the gallows. Almost on the eve of her execution she was granted a new trial, and subsequently won her freedom when one of the State's chief witnesses died and another refused to testify against her. It was alleged she plotted Lindstrom's murder to obtain his insurance.

At the inquest Mrs. Cassler entered a blanket denial of any connection with the slaying.

Inured to the clicking of cameras, the crowds, the booming of flashlights, Mrs. Cassler pushed forward to the witness stand garbed in a blue silk dress and wearing black beads and a shabby faded coat.

She had beaten "Cammie," she said, when the girl quarreled with her on her return home from the Cook County (Chicago) jail. Then Mrs. Cassler decided kindness might be more effective in breaking up the affair of the young divorcee and roller skate expert with her husband, Truman Cassler. They were friends, Mrs. Cassler said, when Mrs. Soutar went to the Cassler home for her trunks.

Edward appeared at the hearing before his mother and denied with nervous insistence that he had any part in the slaying. He even denied he or his mother had ever quarreled with the girl.

Short and slender, in an ill-fitting suit, he twiddled his thumbs as he talked and frequently ran his fingers through his hair. He told of driving about in the car owned by his father on the day the girl disappeared and on the following day. He said he drove the first day to take his mother to see an aunt and the second day he took her for a six-hour ride because she was ill. But all that time he did not go near Hebron, he insisted. Witnesses have said they saw Mrs. Cassler driving near Hebron Monday or Tuesday.

"Why did you drive so long about Chicago?" he was asked.

"Mother was feeling quite ill and I took her out."

"Was she ill the next day?"

"Yes."

"What was wrong with her?"

"The auto ride of the day before, I guess," said the lad.

"Does it nearly always make her sick to ride in an auto?"

"Yes, nearly always, whether it is a long or short ride."

"And still, when she was ill, you took her for a ride."

He squirmed nervously and answered "yes."

The boy was positive his mother had not killed Cammie Soutar and he said the wrist watch found in the Cassler home belonged to him and not "Cammie."

"Your father has said it looks like one that belonged to Chester Johnson, who was going to marry Cammie, and that Cammie wore it now and then," said the coroner.

"He's a liar," snapped the boy.

Flunking of President In "Math" Test Is Told

Swarthmore, Pa., June 4 (U.P.).—The story of how President Hoover, internationally famous for his precise mind, once "flunked" a mathematics course at Leland Stanford University, came out here today on the authority of Mrs. Hoover, who yesterday received an honorary degree of doctor of letters from Swarthmore College. After the ceremonies, Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Joseph Swain, wife of the President's mathematics professor, exchanged reminiscences.

Mrs. Hoover matched a story by Mrs. Swain by telling that her husband was shocked by his failure to pass his course and how Prof. Swain tutored him for a reexamination because his class work had not been satisfactory.

Enochs' Court-Martial Now Set for June 10

New York, June 4 (A.P.).—Announcement was made at headquarters of the Second Corps Area today that the general court-martial of Col. Berkeley Enochs on charges preferred by Maj. Gen. Hanson Ely, commander of the corps area, would open June 10 on Governors Island.

Col. Enochs was chief of staff of the corps area until relieved of duty recently by Gen. Ely. The charge against him has not been made public, but it is reported to be insubordination. He would have completed his four-year appointment at chief of staff on June 30 and had been ordered to report at San Antonio on that date.

Woman Found in Ashes Held Car Crash Victim

New York, June 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Pauline Frost, 33, a social worker, who died after she was found unconscious in a Bronx ash heap today, was the victim of, an automobile accident, in the opinion of Dr. John Riegelman, assistant medical examiner, who performed an autopsy. The woman's skull had been fractured.

Dr. Riegelman said he believed the automobile occupants started to take her to a hospital, but became frightened and abandoned her at the secluded spot where she was found. Marks of an automobile were found nearby. Mrs. Frost was last seen last night when she left the home of a Bronx physician, where she had attended a women's gathering. She refused to ride home and told the others that she would walk.

jurors, Jimmy cocked it and explained how the Conwill boy grabbed it.

"It just went off," he said.

Jury Gathers Around Boy.

Finally, the jurors arose and grouped themselves around the boy. After much coaxing, the lad, who arose to face them, said Norman was standing by the corner of the alley shed when he fired at him point blank.

If found guilty under the Illinois law, he may be sent to the St. Cherles Correction School, he may become a ward of the court, or he may be paroled to another family.

The gun he used, a .45-caliber with a single-hammer action, is a nickle-plated affair and has a 7½-inch barrel. It is an extremely heavy instrument and Jimmy admitted that he had to use both hands to manipulate it.

While the youthful slayer was on the stand, Coroner Dye reverted to about five years ago when a 21-month-old neighbor baby, Robert Endres, was burned to death. Jimmy, from the stand, admitted that he set fire to the child's clothing, but said he was aided by a childish accomplice.

No action against him was taken at the time, however, because of his age.

Kidwell then picked up a gun and fired three shots, each taking effect, according to statements made to county authorities.

Jenkins was given first aid treatment at the scene of the shooting and then was removed to the Winchester Memorial Hospital at Winchester, Va. He is said to be in a serious condition.

Kidwell surrendered immediately after the shooting and is being held in the jail here. No charge has been booked against him.

FARM AID REQUIRES BIG SUM NOW, CLAIM

Leaders in Senate and House Hope Hoover Will Ask Use of $500,000,000.

BOARD MAY BE MADE UP

(Associated Press.)

Assurance was given by responsible leaders in Congress yesterday that they would support a recommendation to make a half billion dollars available for the stabilization of agriculture as soon as the farm relief bill, which would authorize the proposed farm board to spend that amount, is enacted into law.

Among those who expressed the hope that President Hoover would send Congress an estimate for the full amount was Senator McNary, of Oregon, chairman of the Senate agriculture committee. He said he thought it advisable to give the board every opportunity to take the fullest advantage of the benefits intended to be provided by the relief legislation which is nearing enactment.

Considerable interest was manifested at the Capitol in the immediate reaction to this information on the Chicago grain market, where wheat closed buoyant at the day's top point, 3⅞ to 6¼ cents per bushel higher than yesterday's finish.

Bill Authorizes $500,000,000.

The farm bill, now in the process of final adjustment by the conference committee composed of Senate and House members, authorizes an appropriation of $500,000,000, but does not appropriate the sum. It is customary for legislation to be worded and upon its enactment the White House sends an estimate of how much ought to be made available.

It had been thought the Department of Agriculture would suggest an initial appropriation of $1,000,000 or $2,000,000. A number of farm leaders have taken the position, however, that the whole amount should be provided at once in view of the condition facing several leading current crops which are held to be in need of early attention.

Board Members Believed Selected.

Many leaders have been watching the wheat crop with some concern and feel the board should direct its attention to its situation without delay. If the board were to buy up the surplus wheat crop, the leaders pointed out, about $175,000,000 would be needed for this alone. In addition, they feel the cotton crop and perhaps live stock need the attention of the board.

With the farm bill promising to reach its final legislative stages soon, the leaders have been giving considerable thought to the practical working out of the measure's provisions. Some leaders are of the opinion that President Hoover has tentatively decided upon some of the members of the board and the feeling is generally held that the President will endeavor to put the board to work at the earliest possible moment.

Bryan's Daughter Explains Her Vote for Higher Tariff

Mrs. Owen Says She Defied Neither Party Principle Nor Example of Great Commoner, But Obeyed Wishes of Her Florida Constituents.

(United Press.)

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Democratic member of Congress from Florida and daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, believes she has defied neither party principle nor family tradition in supporting a Republican high protective tariff bill.

She explained yesterday why she cast her vote for the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, which some Democrats have said will raise the tariff wall higher than it has ever been before, despite her party's traditional low-tariff attitude, her father's record as an opponent of high protection, and her own disbelief in this Republican doctrine.

"I voted for the bill because my constituents wanted me to," she said. "I am, as the title of my office implies, a representative of my people. I am here to do their bidding.

"There are two theories of representation: That a representative is elected to do the bidding of his constituents and that he is elected with a mandate to follow his own judgment and inclination. I hold to the former theory. I conceive my duty to be that of a representative of my district and my State."

In answer to a question about her father's attitude toward the tariff as compared with her own, Mrs. Owen replied:

"Any comparison between my attitude toward the tariff and my father's would be invidious. He was here 39 years ago representing Nebraska. I am here in 1929 representing Florida. It would be impossible to draw a fair comparison without an exhaustive treatment of changed conditions and different party attitudes."

REPARATIONS EXPERTS REACH FINAL, COMPLETE AGREEMENT

Germany will ratify the Young plan before evacuation of the Rhineland will never be presented because political discussions leading to evacuation will be so far advanced that the Rhineland evacuation will be practically automatic.

There has been little doubt that evacuation is imminent, if reparations are finally settled, according to an understanding between Gustav Stresemann and Aristide Briand, German and French foreign ministers.

The German Nationalists are bound to use the occasion to gain political advantage against the Young plan by raising the evacuation issue, although they know it will regulate itself.

The main report being prepared for the experts' signatures is now about 10,000 words with annexes of an additional 8,000, the principal one of these containing the outline of the bank of international settlements.

Practically everything in the final report already is known. The longest chapter is on annuities, which is in detail, containing provisions for the mobilization of about $119,100,000 of Germany's debt annually.

Economic Condition Considered

Another important chapter is devoted to Germany's economic condition and her capacity to pay. The possibilities for a moratorium given Germany are about the same as those given by Washington to her war debtors and fit in automatically. So if Germany declares a moratorium, a similar moratorium for war debts payable to the United States would go into effect simultaneously.

The capital value of the settlement has been figured by bankers as $9,151,600,000, composed of $285,368,000 still to be paid under the Dawes plan before the end of August, 37 annuities under the Young plan, valued at nearly $7,860,000,000; $238,200,000 for services on the Dawes loan and $666,960,000 for the last 21 payments. These terminal payments are given a present capital value of a little more than this year's first "standard" annuity under the Dawes plan.

Germans Expect Evacuation.

Berlin, June 4 (U.P.).—The German government expects immediate evacuation of the Rhineland by foreign troops and swift settlement of the Saar district issue as a result of the reparations agreement at Paris, the foreign office made known today.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister, speaking at a meeting of the foreign relations committee, said the government would counterasign the reparations pact only if the allies were agreeable to fast action on these issues. A conference of the European governments involved probably will be held in London in July or August.

Stresemann said he considered prospects of settlement of the issues as good and indicated his belief that the new British Labor government would facilitate an agreement. The French reparations agents also have indicated that they favored withdrawal of the troops and possible return of the Saar Basin, which is now under League of Nations mandate, to Germany.

Nationalist party members of the committee rose and left in a body as a protest against Stresemann's refusal to permit public debate on the reparations settlement before the foreign minister's return from the Madrid meeting of the League of Nations Council. He leaves tonight for Madrid.

Communist members of the committee attacked the actions of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief German delegate to the experts' conference. They were rebuked by Chancellor Herman Mueller.

Hoover Sends Congratulations

President Hoover last night cabled his warm congratulations to Owen D. Young and his American associates on the successful outcome of the efforts of the experts' committee to find a solution of the reparations problem. The message follows:

"I have learned with great satisfaction of the successful result of the arduous work of the experts' committee. It is a most important step toward the restoration of international confidence and of national stability. You and Messrs. Morgan, Perkins and Lamont have given generously of your time and strength and I send you all my sincere congratulations on the notable achievement of the committee."

Secretary of State Stimson instructed Norman Armour, American Charge d'Affaires, to convey to Mr. Young and his colleagues Mr. Stimson's heartiest congratulations "on the striking success of their work."

CANADA-TO-U.S. RUM CARGO CUT TO THIRD

ized customs border patrol at Detroit, where most of the liquor is smuggled through. Some comes in also through Buffalo.

Figures on liquor clearances from Windsor, Canada, which is directly across the river from Detroit, show a progressive decrease from 118,000 cases in March to 71,000 in April and about 50,000 in May, Dow said.

The Detroit border patrol numbers 150 trained men under the command of Customs Inspector Albertson, a former naval officer, who was placed in charge at Detroit on April 1. He had been on the Detroit staff and was promoted after indictment of about twenty border patrolmen on bribery charges. Several of those indicted have been sentenced to Leavenworth Penitentiary.

While heartened by the large decrease in the liquor clearance, Dow emphasized, the Treasury still considers smuggling of liquor from Canada as its major problem. Official figures on the amount exported are available because the Canadian government furnishes the United States with a record of each vessel cleared.

After legally passing through the Canadian customs, the rum runner then proceeds to smuggle his contraband through American ports. There is no attempt by Canada to prevent departure for the United States of a liquor vessel as the Dominion government has never acceded to this country's request to deny clearance papers to rum runners.

Efforts to have Canada sign an amendment to the existing liquor treaty between the two countries which would forbid clearance of rum schooners met with failure at a recent conference in Ottawa. Since then, Treasury and State Department officials have indicated a willingness to abrogate the liquor treaties between this government and other countries.

Cuba Chooses Beauty Entry.

Havana, June 4 (A.P.).—Senorita Elvira Morena was today selected by the Cuban National Tourist Commission to represent Cuba at the annual beauty pageant at Galveston, Tex.

Deputies Will Discuss Washington Debt Plan

Paris, June 4 (A.P.).—Premier Raymond Poincare today promised the Chamber of Deputies that it would have full opportunity to discuss the Washington debt settlement, but he strongly indicated that afterward the government will prefer to ratify the Mellon-Berenger agreement by decree rather than by a vote of the deputies.

June 25 was fixed as the date for discussion of the accord in the chamber, the government winning a vote of confidence this evening on its opposition to a motion demanding immediate opening of the subject.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon and recessed at 4:15 to noon today.

Received the nomination of Rear Admiral David F. Sellers to be judge advocate general of the Navy.

Senators Couzens (Republican), of Michigan, and Glass (Democrat), of Virginia, led an attack on the "orgy of speculation" in the country's stock markets.

Adopted the Blaine resolution for an investigation of real estate financing operations in Washington.

Manufactures committee submitted a majority report asking that the proposed investigation of the textile industry be conducted by the Federal Trade Commission and the Tariff Commission.

Senate leaders said they would advocate that the $500,000,000 to be authorized by the farm bill be made immediately available as soon as the bill has been approved by the President.

Chairman Hale, of the naval committee, objected to the request of Senators Copeland and Hatfield that the Navy assign a physician to the Senate, saying that "if the Senate needs a doctor it ought to hire one."

Passed House bill authorizing the Treasury to sell short term bills on a discount basis rather than as interest-bearing notes.

Majority leader Watson called attention to the fact that it was the tenth anniversary of the constitutional amendment to give women suffrage, and Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, proposed another amendment to give the women equal rights with men.

HOUSE.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY BOARD NAMES DEANS

New Officials to Head Three Departments; Increased Enrollment Shown.

1929 BUDGET $1,030,076

Deans were appointed by the board of trustees of Howard University yesterday to head the medical and dental colleges and the college of liberal arts. The annual report of Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, university president, indicated increased enrollment, higher academic salaries and broadening of work of the law school, the library and the department of biology because of special gifts. The past year, Dr. Johnson stated, proved the most successful in point of governmental appropriations, grants of scholarships to faculty members and gifts from the Rockefeller Foundation, the General Education Board and the Julius Rosenwald Fund.

Dr. Emmett J. Scott, secretary-treasurer, in his annual report indicated a university budget for 1929 of $1,030,076.18 and an educational plant valued at $3,000,000. Members of the board in attendance were Gen. J. H. Sherburne, Ralph Cobleigh, Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, Dr. M. F. Wheatland, Dr. P. M. Murray, Dr. Jacob Billikopf, Bishop John Hurst, J. C. Napier, Dr. John R. Hawkins, Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, C. H. Pope, Dr. C. Sumner Wormley and Dr. Johnson, ex officio.

Dr. Numa P. G. Adams, of Chicago, was named dean of the medical college. He is an alumnus of Howard, class of 1911, and a member of the college faculty from 1912 to 1919, leaving to attend the medical college of the University of Chicago and Rush Medical School. He is a graduate student in chemistry from Columbia and a master of arts from the same institution, as well as a graduate student of Ohio State University and the Ogden Graduate School of Science, Chicago. He has recently been director of the heart clinic at Provident Hospital, Chicago, and director of the Medical Service Association of Medical Directors of Negro Life Insurance Companies. He will succeed Dr. E. A. Balloch.

In the dental college Dr. Arnold E. Donawha, also an alumnus of Howard, was named dean. He was an undergraduate interne at Forsyth Dental Infirmary, Boston, and later a fellow at that institution, where he also served as roentgenologist, giving X-ray instruction to the interne staff. He worked also in the Forsyth-Harvard research laboratories under Dr. Percy Rowe, now president of the American Dental Association. He undertook in 1924 postgraduate work in pathology, preventive dentistry and periodontia at the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, Toronto, and is now president of the Harlem Dental Association.

Dr. E. P. Davis, head of the department of German, was appointed dean of the college of liberal arts to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of Dean D. W. Woodward, who will undertake research in mathematics with a view to development of graduate study at Howard in this field. Dr. Davis is also an alumnus of Howard, a master of arts and doctor of philosophy from Chicago, where he was also university fellow in German. He is chairman of the academic board of examiners at Howard and president of the board of athletic control.

Congress Secretaries Rap Secrecy in Senate

The Little Congress, an organization composed of secretaries of members of Congress, at a session last night in the House Office Building, unanimously adopted a resolution favoring abolition of all Senate executive sessions.

Another resolution adopted deplored "the utter failure of the extraordinary session of the Congress to accomplish the ends for which called." This resolution declared that the "farm relief bill as it apparently will go to the President is notoriously inadequate and the only effect of the Hawley tariff bill will be to increase the cost of living."

Blind Newsboy Sent to Hospital.

Daniel Lowe, blind newsboy, will be missing from his "stand" at Fourteenth and G streets northwest, for the next ten days. Judge Gus A. Schuldt ordered Lowe to Gallinger Hospital for ten-days' treatment yesterday at Police Court and took under advisement a charge of intoxication against him.

Model T Fords are still good for years of service

Millions of Model T Fords are still in use—so strongly and sturdily made that many of them can be driven two, three and even five more years with reasonable care and proper replacements.

Bring your Model T to us, therefore, and let us look it over. We'll tell you exactly what it needs and how much it will cost to put it in good running order. You may find that a small expenditure will be the means of giving you thousands of miles of additional service.

2 Venerable Masonic Pals To Be Honored in Capital

"Old Hurricane" and "Sunshine Pop," prominent figures in Masonic activities of the District and Virginia for more than 50 years, are going to be together Monday and Tuesday when they expect to do a little dignified celebrating as National Lodge No. 12, F. A. A. M., of Washington, plays host to Norfolk Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., of Norfolk, Va.

Past Master John J. S. Branch, of Harmony Lodge, No. 149, Drivers, Va., known to his associates as "The Man With the Bloodhounds," is "Old Hurricane," while Frank H. White is "Sunshine Pop," the oldest living member of this historic Virginia lodge. "Pop" is 77 years young, as he puts it."

President Hoover will receive the Virginia Masons at noon Monday, after which a wreath will be placed on the statue of Lafayette in Lafayette Square, because Gen. Lafayette was an honored guest of the Norfolk Lodge in 1824.

Norfolk Lodge members are planning a special honor for "Sunshine Pop" during their visit in the Capital at which "Old Hurricane" is expecting to take a leading role, for these men were companions in Virginia for many years. "Old Hurricane" is a noted detective and it is said he has never failed to capture a criminal whom he pursued with his dogs. Branch's second claim to fame is that he had never missed a meeting of the Grand Lodge of Virginia in 50 years.

A banquet for the visiting Virginians will be held Monday evening at the Masonic Temple, Thirteenth street and New York avenue, with the National Lodge doing the honors. Other entertainment has been arranged for the Norfolk lodge members, who will have headquarters at the Arlington Hotel.

"My! you look lovely to-night"

SHE knew the compliment to be true—for the last pimple had vanished.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you must realize that the logical cause may come from the blood.

A clear, smooth, velvety skin bespeaks loveliness. Men admire it. Women praise and secretly envy. Hope, joy, happiness, and even love, may depend on the possession of a clear, unblemished skin.

On the other hand—skin eruptions are outward evidences of the condition within. Authorities state it is an indication that the body's power of resistance to disease and infection is low. Meaning, that there is a deficiency of red-blood-cells.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to diseases.

Made from fresh vegetable drugs

S.S.S. is Nature's own tonic for improving the appetite, building strength, and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles, by increasing the red-cells of the blood.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

6,000 SHRINERS WALK IN COLORFUL PARADE

Modern Arabia Transplanted to Los Angeles for Convention.

75,000 MEMBERS ATTEND

Los Angeles, Calif., June 4 (A.P.).—Six thousand Shriners, garbed in all the colors of the rainbow, surged through sunlit streets today in a majestic parade to the coliseum to open the fifty-fifth annual convention of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. In columns extending 30 blocks the funmakers of Freemasonry, with banners flying, thrilled the throngs of spectators who banked the avenue of march ten rows deep.

A modern Arabia in all its glory had been transplanted into the heart of this southern California metropolis, and the thousands who came to watch roared the visitors a stirring welcome.

The parade swept every programmed event of the crowded schedule to the sidelines, despite the fact that the serious business of electing a mayor faced Los Angeles. Leading it as grand marshal was Gen. Robert Wankowski, of Al Malaikah Temple, Los Angeles, followed by his escort of nobles in decorated automobiles.

Forty American flags, borne by the Shrine color guard, preceded most of the marching Shrine delegations with their bands, chanters, patrols and mounted "desert Arabs" astride bay, white and sorrel horses.

A score of bands played weird Oriental tunes and modern marches.

In the midst of the parade members of the imperial council, governing body of the Shrine, rode behind Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones, of Houston, Tex., master of the 75,000 Shriners here.

The main body of temples executed intricate marching formations. An elephant led the column of Pittsburgh Shriners.

TO SOUTHERN SENATORS.

Many complaints are coming up from the South against the tactics adopted by most of the Democratic senators in collusion with Western pseudo-Republicans. The business men of the South are unable to understand why their senators are so slow in recognizing the fact that the South is becoming an industrial beehive, with a corresponding necessity for a change in the South's attitude toward the protective tariff. In a letter to The Post, one of these Southern business men writes:

The South, as you well know, is becoming as great an industrial region as New England, yet the Southern senators are so lacking in leadership that they are betraying all the business interests in their States and are imagining that they are accomplishing big things by uniting with the radicals of the West against the old-line Republicans.

The debenture feature of farm relief is obnoxious to the South and damaging to its interests. The protective tariff is more necessary to the growing South than to the old established industrial North. Yet the Southern senators are trying to ram the debenture down our throats while fighting against a tariff that would give us prosperity.

We are not worried about the debenture so much, because President Hoover will veto it anyhow. But the South needs strong protection in all its industries, and we will not get it if the Southern senators have their way. If they betray the Houston platform, which declares for protection, there will be a clean sweep as soon as the people can throw them out.

Here is a new note from the new South—the South of industry and labor as distinguished from the old South of free trade and political oratory.

The Southern senators who are flirting with renegade Republicans on the debenture scheme are losing time. The debenture scheme has held back farm relief for a time, possibly to the great injury of the wheat farmers. Prompt organization of the Federal Farm Board may still save the wheat situation, but the remaining time for action is brief. The vote on the debenture feature has convinced a large section of the country that politics, and not public welfare, is the guiding motive of the coalition between Democrats and renegade Republicans. If, on top of this mistake, Southern Democrats should now oppose tariff rates that are needed by the new South, the voters there may conclude that their only "relief" is to relieve the senators of their jobs and to put in their places modern types of enterprising Southerners who will play the game of 1929 instead of the played-out, low-tariff game of the past.

A majority made up with the help of self-seeking renegades will not do the Democrats of the Senate any good, especially when this majority commits itself to such nonsense as the debenture scheme. Sooner or later the renegades will betray their Democratic allies, as they have betrayed the Republicans. The renegades are already "double-crossing" one another. There is no political honor in them, and Southern Democrats have nothing to gain by making deals with them. The new South is entitled to the services of faithful and intelligent legislators who will quit political trickery and cooperate with the dominant party in enacting a tariff that will protect the industries of the South as well as of the North.

BROADCASTING LICENSES.

During hearings on his bill to create a Federal Commission of Communications Senator Couzens suggested that broadcasting licenses be issued on a day-to-day basis rather than on a 90-day basis, as provided for in the present law. It is his idea that broadcasting could be kept under better control on a day-to-day basis, and that no station would need to worry over such an arrangement if the law specified that licenses could be revoked only following a public hearing.

With all the uncertainty and debate that has surrounded the development and control of radio, it is a wonder that broadcasting has reached even its present stage of efficiency. No one could have blamed broadcasters had they refused to invest capital in experiment and improvements in view of the fact that there has been no certainty as to how far the Government will assume control over broadcasting. That broadcasting has marched ahead is due entirely to the fact that broadcasters have relied upon a system of regulation that would be administered in fairness to all.

It would be poor policy to put broadcasting on a day-to-day basis. Construction and operation of a broadcasting station entail a considerable expenditure, and the investment should have some assurance of protection. If broadcasting were put on a day-to-day basis the public could expect an immediate cessation of experiment and improvement, as well as "cheaper" programs. Broadcasting regulation should be worked out on a basis that will encourage stability instead of uncertainty.

WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Groups of women throughout the country yesterday celebrated the tenth anniversary of the passage of the nineteenth amendment to the Constitution, giving them suffrage. The occasion recalls the progress that has been made by women in the field of politics since they were granted the ballot. They have gradually increased their strength in legislative halls, but their conquest has not been phenomenal either in the number elected or the results achieved. The new women voters could not be expected to manifest their full potential strength in ten years.

Jeanette Rankin, of Montana, was the first woman elected to Congress. Having taken a prominent part in the suffrage movement she was rewarded with a seat in the House from 1917 to 1919. Since that time several women have served in Congress. Three more were elected last November, making a total of eight in the present Congress, a rather small percentage of a membership of 435. Women have not yet invaded the Senate, but Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, representative from Illinois, has announced her candidacy for the Republican nomination in 1930. Several high appointments in the Government have gone to women in recent years.

In State politics women have been making some progress. The election last fall brought the number of women legislators in the 48 States to 145, a gain of 19 seats for the year.

In spite of the fact that the United States has had universal adult suffrage for ten years, fewer women have been elected to the national legislature than in England, where woman suffrage was not complete until the election which took place last week. Thirteen women won seats in Parliament. England has a large majority of women over men, while in America the sexes are more evenly divided.

Prediction that government would be revolutionized by the participation of women in politics has failed of realization. The women elected or appointed to responsible positions have conducted themselves largely as did their male predecessors. Their interests in legislation are not essentially different from those of men. An increasing number of women probably will be elected to Congress and the State legislatures, but all indications are that the process will mark no fundamental change in the political order.

SAFETY RULES AT SEA.

With the picture of the Vestris disaster fresh in mind, more than ordinary interest attended the conference on safety of life at sea which concluded its deliberations in London last Friday. The tangible result of the conference is a convention to which representatives of eighteen maritime nations set their signatures. Six weeks were consumed in negotiations, and although a complete text of the convention has not yet been published, a summary of its details indicates that progress has been made toward greater safety at sea.

The conference decided that all ships should be looked upon as potential lifeboats, and with this in mind it was agreed that all vessels of over 1,600 tons, with certain specific exemptions, should be made to carry efficient wireless equipment, fitted with automatic alarms always in operation, or attended by operators at definite and prescribed hours of watch. "It is not sufficient," said Admiral Richard, president of the conference, "that a ship in distress shall be able to send out a call for assistance, but provision must be made for the reception of such calls by other ships in a position to render aid." The convention also prescribes "boats for all," readily available in emergencies, and each boat so carried that it will not interfere with the launching of another. Stricter navigation regulations and new rules for internal construction are adopted.

The fact that eighteen nations were able to agree upon a more rigid safety code for vessels should not go unnoticed. The new regulations may, at first, seem to impose hardship upon operators of vessels, but where safety is concerned there can be no compromise. Disasters at sea always will occur, and so long as a human element is involved there may be fallibility; but the convention, if ratified, will make disaster less frequent.

POSTAGE STAMP FRAUDS.

Ten persons have been indicted at Charleston, S. C., charged with washing, possessing, selling and reusing postage stamps previously used in sending packages through the mails. The stamps thus fraudulently used range in denomination from 5 cents to $5. It is alleged that the operations of a stamp fraud ring have swindled the Government out of nearly $5,000,000 during the last year.

A country-wide investigation is under way, and scores of persons are reported to have been arrested in various cities. Users of precanceled stamps are being rounded up as well as those engaged in washing and resale of stamps that have been previously used. Postoffice officials report that banks, mail order houses, insurance companies, publishers and letter service bureaus buy thousands of dollars worth of postage stamps daily from stamp dealers in the large cities. Most of these stamps, it was found, have been tampered with. No doubt the investigation will bring out evidence of greater fraud in the reuse and theft of stamps than is now in sight.

This condition suggests the necessity for further research into stamp manufacture and methods of cancellation. The Government has spent large sums in developing currency of new size and design and it is believed that counterfeiting will be materially reduced as soon as the new money is in circulation. Why can not similar improvement be made in postage stamps? It should not be difficult to devise a stamp, or a method of cancellation, which would make reuse impossible. It may be necessary also to strictly supervise the activities of stamp dealers who under present conditions make stamp washing profitable.

INROADS OF SPINACH.

Science now turns its attention to a child's instinctive abhorrence of spinach. With five test tubes, filled, respectively, with a strong salt solution, vinegar, egg whites, a mild salt solution and chocolate, Dr. Marguerite Gauger, of Columbia University, set out to make young children like the contents of one as well as those of another. Early in the experiment she found what had been anticipated—that children do not like the taste of strong salt, vinegar or egg whites. By persistently dosing them with the charming concoctions, however, she found it was possible to build up taste tolerance until, at the end of a comparatively brief period, the subjects were no more displeased with the taste of vinegar than they were pleased with the flavor of chocolate. Whereupon, Dr. Gauger announced that it is easy to train children to like spinach, provided only that the parents have courage and persistently stick at the task.

All of which, no doubt, will be good news to parents. Dr. Gauger asserts that a variety of food is necessary to maintain the body in good health during adult life, and that it is essential that children should gradually learn to eat many articles of food which are unlike in flavor. So far as is known there is no staple article of diet that tastes like raw vinegar or a strong salt solution, and that Dr. Gauger has succeeded in making her subjects like such flavors is not only a tribute to her skill but stands almost as a guarantee that children can be made to like anything. Therein lies the danger in her discovery.

Parents may adopt her technique in connection with the carrot, the spinach and the egg-plant inhibitions of their offspring. With a younger generation coming along with a taste for these so-called foods, what is to be done for the protection of the present generation? The carrot growers, the spinach planters and the egg-plant cultivators probably will seize the opportunity to increase their acreage. Carrots, spinach and egg-plant will flood the market to be purchased by unfeeling housewives for table consumption. Dr. Gauger has made an announcement that threatens to make the American people a nation of carrot, spinach and egg-plant eaters. A dark and dismal page in gastronomical history seems about to be written!

In London the last remaining armorer finds business falling off. He ought to move to Chicago.

PATRON OF MOTORISTS

From the New York Times.

St. Christopher will ride with Pope Pius XI in his gorgeous new limousine, with its painted papal arms and fine cushions of crimson silk. His image impressed on a plaque of gold is a part of the decorations. Likewise, this saint, the burden bearer of legend, rides with thousands of motorists in many parts of the world, now in a taxicab, now in a truck, now in a racing car. Not since the Middle Ages has St. Christopher been so popular, for today the automobilist invokes him as patron. His image is believed to bring good luck and ward off accidents.

In the Golden Legend it was related how one Reprobus, tall of stature and powerful of sinew, set forth to find the greatest prince whom he might serve. Reprobus was to become St. Christopher. He enlisted under a mighty prince, only to discover that there was a mightier still; for his master trembled at the very mention of the devil. He then sought out the devil and followed him, until they came one day to a roadside cross, and the devil in his turn trembled. Christ, Reprobus then determined, should be his king.

After his conversion he set himself the penance of carrying weary pilgrims on his back over a particularly dangerous stream where many had been lost. Once in the dead of night a child's voice called to him, and he responded as usual, but as, carrying the child, he moved across the stream a storm arose and the waters pitched and tossed, while his small burden grew heavier and heavier.

"Child, thou hast put me in great peril," said St. Christopher when his task was completed. "If I had had the whole world upon me, it might be no greater burden."

"Christopher, marvel nothing," the child replied, "for thou hast not only borne all the world upon thee, but thou hast borne Him that made and created the world on thy shoulders. I am Christ, the King whom thou servest in the world."

In proof of the visitation, the ferryman (whose new name, "bearer of Christ," may be traceable either to this incident or to his conversion, when he took Christ into his heart) asked that his staff be made to bear leaves and fruit. He planted it on the shore, and in due time it flourished as a palm tree, beneath which 8,000 men of Lycia were converted.

No more than the circulation of this story was needed in the thirteenth century to bring the long-neglected saint of another age out of the shadows. The legend captured the imagination, and the figure of the giant with the tiny Christ Child on his shoulder went up on the walls of churches all over Europe.

After the Golden Legend, originally written in Latin, had been translated into French and English, an order was formed in St. Christopher's name; and in the fourteenth century the brethren used to carry on the Christopher tradition of aiding the traveler by acting as guides over streams. With the pictures of the saint began to appear the inscription, "Whoever shall behold the image of St. Christopher shall not faint or fall on that day." At bridgeheads his statue was placed and along rivers where the ice often jammed; and so he came to be looked on generally as the patron of travelers.

St. Christopher's adoption by the automobilist has been a matter of little more than a decade. The custom was initiated by a French manufacturer, who dispensed little images in gilt metal as protection against accidents.

So, after all, this thing of saying Americans are not thrifty is based on imagination instead of facts. We guess that about 99 per cent of what we Americans say is untrue. We have developed into a race of liars, we regret to say.

How Come?

Baltimore Sun: Tuberculosis experts, now meeting at Atlantic City, are told by Dr. A. R. Riddle that the old theory as to the absence of curative rays in winter sunshine is groundless. The intensity of solar radiation, of course, varies with the season, but those who neglect to gain its benefits in winter and then seek them eagerly in summer are inconsistent and neglectful. And, although he did not say it, one gathers that the ardent hygienists who now sun themselves extensively are under some suspicion. Do they drench themselves with sunshine at home in winter? They do not claim to. They postpone their concern for their health until summer comes to the beaches. Why?

Train a Cannon on Free Men and They Will Dare You to Use It.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MUCH of America's trouble can be traced to a national "inferiority complex."

As a new-rich vulgarian browbeats servants to demonstrate his superiority, while the born aristocrat, having no fear of losing caste, deals kindly with those who serve him, so officialdom in a republic uses unnecessary force because force is its sole badge of authority, while the officers of a king have the patience of the strong because their authority is derived from the king's "divine right."

The small man is offensively aggressive; the corporal is more dignified than the general; the policeman who is afraid curses more and shoots quicker than the seasoned officer who has courage.

Always and everywhere a consciousness of inferiority prompts an unnecessary show of force. Always the commoner who gains power is more cruel than the prince. Always the dictator from the gutter wears a dripping sword

"By the eternal," cries the weakling, "I'll show them who is master." But the born leader of men thinks it unnecessary to show them. He knows they know.

As this is written, a strike is in progress and several thousand workers walk the streets in idleness. As their poverty pinches more and more, they grow daily more bitter and desperate. They hate strike breakers who are taking their jobs. They hate all who seem to be against them.

Here, surely, is a situation where authority should be tactful. The king would consider their mental state and be patient.

But officers of a republic must show who is boss. Officials of the town hastily prepared an ordinance to forbid parades. The governor of the State called out the militia. A red flag waved at an angry bull!

Loyal subjects of King George became rebels because troops were quartered on them, and England lost a valuable colony. These strikers are lovers of freedom, also, and the sight of bayonets affects them as our fathers were affected when the bayonets belonged to "red coats."

The order forbidding parades was a dare, and the strikers accepted it and paraded and went to jail by the hundred.

The militia with its naked bayonets is another dare, and will serve only to fire the blood and steel the resolution of every striker who is fit to be an American citizen.

Abuse of authority is the vice of republics, and all of its effects are vicious. It causes free men to hate authority. It makes loyal citizens hate the law.

Americans will listen to reason. They will not swallow anything if authority endeavors to ram it down their throats.

THE CLARK MUSEUM.

On the banks of the Wabash River where old Fort Sackville stood, a Hall of History will rise among the sycamores near Vincennes to commemorate the empire building genius of George Rogers Clark, says the Kansas City Star.

Indiana has arranged the purchase of the twelve-acre site where the frontiersman and his compatriots wrested from the British 150 years ago, the victory that opened the Western wilderness to colonies which later became the United States—a wilderness which his brother, William Clark, was to pierce 30 years afterward with Capt. Meriweather Lewis on a voyage of exploration.

Clark and his army of frontier patriots won their victory February 26, 1779, ousting the British from the blockhouse fort and from the West.

A commission headed by William Fortune, Indianapolis philanthropist, will erect the memorial from funds provided by the Federal Government. President Coolidge has signed a measure appropriating $1,000,000 for the project.

"Our task," he says, "is to create a new hero, to invest Clark with the rank he deserves alongside Washington, Jefferson, Patrick Henry and the Adamses."

A stone marker beside a highway sign now designates the spot where the entrance to the fort was located. It was along the sloping river bank that Clark and his half starved fellows, worn by a month's tramping through Illinois marshes on a mid-winter march from the Mississippi, advanced to overcome with pioneer sharpshooting the even volleys of the redcoat garrison.

Their success marked the consolidation of campaign gains in Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky, overthrow British hegemony west of the Alleghenies, and saved to the Colonies, in the subsequent peace treaty which ended the revolution, the Northwest territory now embraced in the States of Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

The Hall of History is to reanimate in murals the achievements of Clark's intrepid band and the tangible works which followed his success. It will be used by historical and pioneer societies of Knox County and Vincennes, cradle of Hoosier history, where the first territorial government was set up and the first Indiana constitution written 35 years after Clark's exploit.

The memorial will be opened in 1929, sesquicentennial of the fort's capture.

PRODUCTION OF FELT.

Millions of rabbit skins are used every year in the manufacture of hats. Of the total used in America and Europe each year Australia contributes about 52 per cent, France 22 per cent and Belgium and Holland 13 per cent. Here in the United States alone 180,000,000 rabbit, hare and cony skins were used by manufacturers in 1927; 105,000,000 went to furriers, the remainder to hatters, writes Mara Evans in the Saturday Evening Post.

Felt is a wool—or wool and fur or hair—cloth of ancient origin. It has been in existence, the story goes, since the distant day when a weary Judean shepherd, trudging home with his flock, pulled enough wool from one of the sheep to make a little wad that he could thrust between his foot and sandal to ease the pain of a broken blister. Pressure and perspiration matted the fibers of the wool together compactly and produced felt in much the same way we turn the soles of heavy woolen socks into a similar substance.

Mechanical processes, successful since about 1825, have made the production of felt a simpler and more profitable matter, with the use of nitrate or mercury to unlock the tiny hooks on the fibers and rollers to press and interlace them into a mat. Rabbit hair adapts itself readily to the process.

Figuring three ounces of fur to one felt hat and one ounce of fur to a rabbit skin, it takes three rabbits to produce enough felt for just one hat. The American hat trade in 1927 manufactured 25,000,000 felt hats, using 6,500,000,000 skins, of which 75,000,000 were the rabbit, hare or cony skins referred to and the rest generally muskrat, nutria or beaver.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Brilliant Farm Relief Plan Comes Up From Culpeper—Surplus Problem Solved.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: My old friend, Mr Coats, received a letter saying, "I understand that you were a successful farmer 25 or 30 years ago. Please write me what you think will be the best thing for the Government to do to help the farmer of today." His reply is as follows:

"Put up a filling station every few miles along the highways and county roads and give them free gas. The majority of them will ride all and every day and there will be no surplus crops made to reduce prices. The few who do stay at home and work will get a good price for their produce and be happy. Of course the poor consumer will suffer, but who cares for him anyway?" H. P. WALTON.

Culpeper, Va., June 3.

Republican Wishes John J. Raskob Would Become a Democrat.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I notice with great interest the activities of John J. Raskob, aiming to bring the Democratic Party back to a firm foundation in order to bring about a victory on the Hill in 1930, also 1932.

I am wondering if Mr. Raskob has changed his affiliation from the Republican Party to the Democratic Party. If he has not, I hope on next registration day in his State he will do so.

It is most annoying to us Republicans to have such leaders as Mr. Raskob say they are Republicans. Any real Republican does not play the game that way. REPUBLICAN.

Repeal the Decalogue and Then Crime Will Cease—Maybe.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I notice you are still publishing letters from people who attempt to rouse the public up to demanding the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. In view of the votes in favor of establishing this amendment, such twaddling reminds subscriber of the proposition advocated in Spain in the spring of 1898—"to have one of their generals land at some port in the Gulf of Mexico and lead the Southern States into revolt against the Government;" but an empty can makes a lot of racket.

The thing that makes two-thirds of our people criminals is not the eighteenth amendment, as these people claim. It is something back much farther than that—the Decalogue—and we can give names and addresses to prove it. Get the Decalogue repealed and each can follow out his own desires according to his talents.

One of the greatest dangers to the welfare of the body politic is the fact that every ignorant noodle in the community can write a lot of his ruminations and have it published in the open press as "the voice of the pipple." "Raus mit ihnen," or words to that effect! D. C. MacSICCAR.

TOURING HOBOES.

Almost as devastating as the news that cow punchers have taken to Fords is the announcement of the chief of police for the New York Central Railroad that hoboes in the East have abandoned the brake rods and are now touring the country by automobile, says the New York Herald Tribune. Thus one by one do the institutions of romance surrender to the pitiless advance of the machine.

"Riding the rods" has never received the attention it deserves in the literature of derring-do. Its audacity has been obscured by the natural tendency of organized society to side with the railroad "bulls" in their warfare upon it. But now that it is falling into disuse it may come into its own as marking a distinct chapter in the romance of developing America.

For, in the absence of other means of free transportation, how else could the impecunious adventurer cover the vast distances on this continent, how else could he swell the ranks of labor as the demand arose in wheat field and lumber camp or in any of the far-away places of productive effort? It has been habitual to associate this manner of travel with tramps and hoboes, and therefore to think of it as contributing merely to the convenience of parasites. But if the truth were known we should probably discover that most of the humbler classes of labor have been depending upon it for their mobility and that "riding the rods" has been a factor of real importance in the distribution of man power where it has been most needed.

But aside from its social and economic significance, picture the risk it entails. Clinging to the under side of a railway car making 60 miles an hour, being stung by pebbles from the right-of-way with the speed of bullets, listening to the roar of death two feet below, will stand comparison with the ordeal of a pony express rider galloping past sniping Indians or with that of the air mail carrier surmounting a snowstorm over the Alleghanies. And to think that the heroes of the rods are now "hitch-hiking!" Soft times, degenerate days!

ANCIENT BEAUTY AIDS.

The "secrets of make-up" are mostly familiar facts of history to Chinese women, says a National Geographic Society bulletin. The famous beauties of Cathay employed many of the modern "Ye Beauty Shoppe's" arts. They used the eye-brow pencil, rouge, face cream and hair ointment with such skill that their charms "caused the moon to hide its face and the very flowers to feel shame." That was in the days when a British woman's idea of cosmetics was a head-to-foot coat of blue clay paint.

Chinese women welcome better beauty tools. They have given up the charred willow twig of Ming maidens for the modern eye-brow pencil, rejected the silk rouge pad for the modern compact, banished sheep tallow creams for improved cold and vanishing creams and turned from musk and sandalwood to more delicate perfumes, although Oriental countries prefer much stronger perfumes than please the Occidental nations. Unlike many other Oriental states, China now supplies its cosmetic trade chiefly by home manufacture.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

"Music Week" Lures Notables To Evergreen

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Garrett Hosts at Series of Recitals.

By JEAN ELIOT.

GROUPS from Washington have been motoring over to Baltimore in the last few days to attend one or another of the series of musicales arranged by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Garrett in the little theater of Evergreen, the beautiful old estate on Charles Street avenue, which has been in the Garrett family for generations.

This engaging "music week" opened last Friday. There were also recitals on Saturday and Sunday. The series was resumed on Tuesday and will continue through Friday. Some of the recitals are in the afternoon, others in the evening. The programs, all chamber music, are being given by the Musical Art Quartet, an inheritor of some of the talent of the famous Flonzaley Quartet, which was disbanded recently.

The picturesque little theater at Evergreen, built onto the rambling old house and designed and decorated under Mrs. Garrett's direction, is a charming setting for such informal gatherings of discriminating music lovers. Mrs. Garrett has a keen and cultivated interest in many forms of artistic expression and frequently invites groups of guests for a dance program, music or some original and beguiling form of entertainment.

Although the Garretts home is in Baltimore, they have been much in Washington and are citizens of the world, Mr. Garrett having had a long experience in the diplomatic service. Mrs. Garrett was one of the three daughters, all gifted and all attractive, of the late Mrs. Benjamin H. Warder. One sister is Mrs. Harry Leonard.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Garrett will entertain at Evergreen for the Belgian Ambassador and Princess de Ligne. The long and interesting social history of this fine old place was interrupted during the war, when for several years Evergreen was a hospital for the blind.

President and Mrs. Hoover last night had as dinner guests at the White House Secretary of War and Mrs. James Good, Governor General Dwight F. Davis and the Misses Davis, Representative and Mrs. L. C. Dyer, Representative and Mrs. Robert L. Bacon, Representative and Mrs. Eaton, F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation; Capt. Gregory and Miss Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Hornady, Mrs. Burdette, Lieut. Comdr. Charles B. C. Carey, Lieut. Comdr. Campbell Hodges and Miss Ruth Fesler.

Mrs. Hoover Entertains At Congressional Tea.

Mrs. Hoover entertained yesterday afternoon at the third of a series of congressional teas. The fourth and last of these teas will be tomorrow afternoon.

The British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard were the guests for whom Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., entertained at dinner last evening.

The French Ambassador, Mr. Paul Claudel, entertained at a stag dinner last night at the embassy when his guests were the Minister of Switzerland, Mr. Marc Peter; Senator Walter E. Edge, Representative Stephen G. Porter, Dr. Leo S. Rowe, Mr. Arthur Bliss Lane, Mr. Serot, member of the French Chamber of Deputies; Mr. Richard V. Oulahan, Mr. Frederic William Wile, Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, Counselor of the Polish Legation; Signor Leonardo Vitetti, First Secretary of the Italian Embassy; Count de Sartiges, Counselor of the French Embassy; Mr. Jules Henry, First Secretary, and Mr. Raymond Bousquet, Third Secretary of the embassy.

The Ambassador of Cuba, Senor Don Orestes Ferrara, will go to Boston at the end of the week to join Senora de Ferrara, who is visiting there. They will return to Washington about June 14.

The Chief Justice, Mr. William Howard Taft, is passing several days in Cincinnati with his brother, Mr. Charles P. Taft, and will return to Washington Friday.

The Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft will be luncheon guests on Sunday of Senator and Mrs. Jesse H. Metcalf on board their yacht, the Felicia. The Chief Justice and Mrs. Taft will start on Monday for their summer home at Murray Bay, Canada.

Secretary of the Interior Is Going to California.

The Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur will leave Washington Friday for Colorado Springs, where Dr. Wilbur will attend the opening of the oil conference next Monday. From there they will continue West to California, and Mrs. Wilbur will remain through the summer at their mountain home in the Sierra Nevadas. Simple Friends' Ceremony Used For Marriage

Miss Isabel Skillman Stabler Wed to Mr. Lofton Stuart Wesley.

The wedding of Miss Isabel Skillman Stabler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stabler, to Mr. Lofton Stuart Wesley, son of the late Mr. Enoch A. Wesley, of Kentucky, and Mrs. Wesley, took place last evening in the Friends Meeting House on I street.

The ceremony was performed according to the simple custom of the Friends. The bride was escorted by her father, who read the marriage certificate, and then the bride and bridegroom plighted their troth.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned on simple lines. The veil was of lace and tulle, and she carried a bouquet of white roses gathered from a rose bush planted years ago by her grandmother in a garden in Sandy Spring, Md.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Lawrence Stabler, sister-in-law of the bride, and the maid of honor was Miss Sarah Hamilton, of Elmira, N. Y. The latter is the fiancee of the bride's brother, Mr. Robert Stabler.

The best man was Mr. Albert Stabler, jr., youngest brother of the bride, and the ushers were Mr. Orville Crays and Mr. William McFadden, of New York, and Mr. Lawrence Stabler and Mr. Robert Stabler.

Following a two months' honeymoon through the Rocky Mountain National Park, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Wesley will make their home in Washington.

The bride is a graduate of Smith College, and a post-graduate of Columbia University. Mr. Wesley is a graduate of Depauw University, and is now executive secretary of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association.

Navy Head Off For Graduation At Annapolis

Many Leaders of Capital Planning to Attend Ceremonies.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams will go to Annapolis this afternoon to stay with Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robison, superintendent of the Naval Academy and Mrs. Robison and to attend the graduation exercises at the academy tomorrow.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Barnett, who have been at Wakefield Manor, their country home in Virginia, also will be in Annapolis for the graduation. Gen. Barnett was a member of the famous class of '81, to which belonged the late Mr. John W. Weeks, who was Secretary of War, and many others who have achieved distinction. It is their custom to hold an informal reunion during June Week at Annapolis.

Mrs. Barnett's nephew, Midshipman Arthur Sinclair Hill, is to be graduated this year. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Phillips Hill, who are also going to the commencement with their pretty daughter, Miss Frances Hill. There is a long tradition of naval service in the Hill and Sinclair families. An older son of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, Ensign Phillips Hill, was graduated from the Naval Academy two years ago. He is now on duty at Pensacola, Fla., but will be present to see his brother receive his commission. Another nephew of Mrs. Barnett, who is likewise a nephew of Mrs. Hill, Midshipman Lloyd Mustin, is now at the academy. He is the son of the late Capt. Henry Mustin, U. S. N. His mother is now Mrs. George Murray.

Many pretty Washington girls are now in Annapolis for the June Week festivities, among them Miss Elizabeth Crawford Milliken, who will attend the commencement exercises and the June ball.

TESTIMONY BLAMES OWNERS OF VESTRIS

Loading of Ship Not Supervised and Crew Unorganized, Inquirers Told.

TALES OF PANIC RELATED

London, June 4 (A.P.).—Grave charges against the owners and crew of the liner Vestris were contained in testimony before the British Board of Trade inquiry today into her sinking.

Much of the evidence was given through affidavits, but some orally.

Alfred Woods, general manager of the Lamport & Holt Line, owners of the ship, admitted personally that after an incident in 1926, when it was alleged that the Vestris sailed overloaded, he had taken no steps to supervise loading of the company's liners.

"In other words," said the attorney general, "Lamport & Holt left their vessels abroad free to break the law governing British ships?"

"Yes," Woods replied.

Very severe criticism of the crew's action, or alleged want of action, just before and just after the Vestris sank, was presented in affidavits on behalf of two passengers.

"Every person on board might have been saved had things not been left until the last moment," declared H. C. W. Johnstone, a Trinidad oil producer.

He said there was complete lack of organization in the rescue work. Women and children were loaded aboard the lifeboats on the port side without men to handle the oars or officers to take charge. Johnstone said he saw two of these boats go down with the ship.

"One boat which held only an officer, who I was told was the chief engineer, and eight seamen, rowed away from the scene and didn't return to pick up survivors until at least an hour after the ship had gone down, when it was getting dark and impossible to find anybody," Johnstone said.

Capt. Frederick Sorensen, of New York, a master mariner and a passenger on the Vestris, in his affidavit said he had taken the tiller of the lifeboat which picked him up. The boat was waterlogged and he approached another boat, which did not seem to be full, to transfer some of his passengers.

Capt. Sorensen hailed it loudly to come and take off the women.

"I didn't see the number of it, but other passengers said it was No. 1. It lay there a little while and when we were finally swamped they pulled away," stated Capt. Sorensen in his affidavit.

"Of course I felt very bitter against that crew at the time. I admit I would have taken a shot at them if I had had a gun. Now it's all over, I can see they were panicky themselves—men without a leader."

E. N. Walsott, general merchant, charged in his affidavit that the men engaged in launching the lifeboats did not appear to be familiar with their task.

The inquiry was adjourned today until June 17.

THE ONCE OVER

OPENING THE SMART CASINO.

(An elaborate casino has been opened by society leaders on the lake in Central Park, New York. Ten dollars per plate was the cover charge at the formal opening.—News item.)

"There! Isn't this lovely? Yes, I got a table near the window so we could look out on the lake and see the sailors. What? Yes that's Mr. A. Drexel Biddle over there at the big table. He's the one that boxes. No, I don't think he is going to box here tonight. Huh? Will I ask him to box just a little after the next number? I'll send him a note through the head waiter and see. For this $10 cover charge everybody connected with the place should be willing to box.

* * * *

"That's one of the Vanderbilts beside that potted palm. No, I'm not certain which. Isn't this a nifty dining room? Urban designed it. What Urban? Urban Shocker, the old Yankee pitcher. What I like is the view. You can look out of any window and get an unobstructed glimpse of the sinew of the Atlantic fleet accompanied by its sweethearts. . . Look at that big gunner's mate in that boat with three girls, one on each knee and one on his shoulder! The police should do something to stop this one-armed rowing. It causes accidents."

* * * *

"Who's that distinguished looking man in a frock coat rowing around in circles? I don't know, but it looks like the Secretary of the Navy. He comes here often and hires a boat just to study the sailor off duty. Ah! Look at that striking woman—the one with the gold cape and diamonds rowing all alone! That's the Duchess of Wessinbrooke. Those two men rowing like mad in the boat behind her are the Earl of Tixwicket and D. Jason Cumberlumpitt, the copper king.

* * * *

"Every afternoon the duchess shoves off in a rowboat from the Fifth avenue side and those big society men pursue her. They seem to be gaining on her. She has dropped her stroke a little, but is rowing steadily.

* * * *

"The Earl of Tixwicket has caught a crab, but his boat is slowly creeping up on the duchess. She appears to have plenty in reserve, though. They're overtaking her! They'll get her surely! But no; She was saving up for a final spurt. Look at her put her back into it! She's pulling away! The earl and D. Jason Cumberlumpitt have collapsed. Wasn't it stirring?

* * * *

"Where is there a restaurant from which you can see the best people in a water duel like that? What's going on over there by the bend? There appears to be much excitement. Wait a minute. Why, there's Alice Longworth in a new green boat, and she's trying to keep Mrs. Gann off the water. They're poking at each other with oars. I must phone Secretary Stimson at once and have him settle the matter! And listen, don't dip that cruller in your coffee. Where do you think you are?"

Suppose the Groom Appeared in His B. V. D's.

There are no "showers" for him. There are no style shows. No admiring audiences. Nobody to tell him that he's the best looking groom in the world. For all the attention paid him one wouldn't be at all surprised if he appeared in his B. V. D's.

Of course, we can't really do much about this. The ladies are too well organized for us men. However, we're doing what we can for the cause. We've formed a Society for the Benefit of Neglected Bridegrooms, with headquarters in our Men's Departments. Only grooms may belong.

Here we have assembled the necessary adjuncts that make the Groom well dressed. The right coat . . . the right hat . . . and so on. We'll make the June Bride, with all her finery, green with envy when she sees our finished product.

So rally 'round, Grooms. The Society for the Benefit of Neglected Bridegrooms awaits its members with open arms.

Commerce Secretary Lamont to Address 400 Delegates This Morning.

BETTER METHODS TOPIC

Nearly 400 weights and measures officials from all parts of the country and representatives of manufacturers of weighing devices attended the opening of the twenty-second annual national conference on weights and measures yesterday at the Bureau of Standards. The conference is sponsored by the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce.

The objects of the conference, which will hold daily sessions ending Friday, are to study practical problems confronting weights and measures officials, develop specifications for commercial equipment and, in general, promote uniformity in weights and measures laws and regulations, methods of tests, character of supervision and efficient administration.

Robert F. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, will make the principal address at this morning's session. Following a luncheon at the Bureau of Standards the delegates will make an inspection tour of the Government's huge laboratories.

Following an address by George K. Burgess, director of the Bureau of Standards and president of the conference, reports of State delegates and reports of representatives of State associations of weights and measures officials were read at the yesterday morning session. In the afternoon papers were read by H. A. Spillman, senior marketing specialist of the Government, and Albert B. Smith, chief of the Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures for Pennsylvania.

THE RETURN OF OLD KING BRADY

Revived by MERLE W. HERSEY.

THE MATTER OF MARSHAL MUNDY.

CHAPTER III.

The Midnight Attack.

Evening came and it found Spanish Licks as quiet as a desert. The last cowboy had departed and after the stores had closed there was scarcely a sound to be heard. The Bradys sat on the hotel piazza talking to Mayor Scrapps until almost midnight. Suddenly Old King Brady leaned forward and pointing up to the end of the street said, "Who are these people coming to break the stillness of this peaceful night?"

A number of mounted men came dashing on toward the town, and at this moment broke into a wild yell, which might have awakened the soundest sleeper in Spanish Licks.

"Good heavens, Brady, what's this?" cried the mayor, springing to his feet.

"For two cents I'd say it was your Butts gang!" exclaimed Harry.

"So much for our meeting with Dick Halsted," added Old King Brady. "Now then, Mr. Mayor, what do you think of the dead men on Deadman's Island? I tell you your ghosts and these men are one and the same."

The old detective had anticipated some such demonstration from the band. "It is as plain as day. Halsted has been talking and now the gang is after us."

There was no time to lose. The mayor looked into the hotel, yelled, "Butts gang!" and then ran down the steps.

"Get to your home and look after your family," called out Old King Brady. "We'll look after ourselves."

The mayor hurried away, leaving the Bradys running full speed toward the barn. The man in charge opened the door at their knock. "Here is a ten-dollar note for you," the old detective said. "When these fellows ask if you have seen us you will say no."

"All right, boss. I spose it's all right." Saying which he posted himself at the door, while the Bradys went up the stairs.

Here were two essential things; a haymow and a shuttered window overlooking the hotel. Instructing Harry to keep an eye on the hotel, Old King Brady ran downstairs.

Just then another wild yell rang out and a few minutes later Harry saw the gang come dashing up to the hotel. The leader was a man of unusual size, fully 6 feet tall and big in proportion.

"That's Chris Butts all right," thought Harry. "I wonder what the governor is about—sounds as though he were getting out the horses." He walked over to the window on the other side of the barn and there saw Old King Brady ride out of the back door upon one horse, and leading another. He struck out for the prairie.

Harry returned to his post at the other window. Here he could both see and hear everything that went on.

"Open up here, Matt Magee, or take the consequence! Lively, now!" the leader shouted.

Magee was no coward. He opened the door and walked boldly out upon the piazza. "Gentlemen, what do you wish?" he asked in a voice that did not falter.

"Magee," spoke the leader, "you have got two Yorkers here and we want them."

"Well, looks to me as though you were too late—when they heard your yell they took to their heels."

"You lie!" roared the giant leader. Turning to his men he gave an order "Dismount, six of you. Magee, show us the room where the men are."

The instant the masks started to dismount the landlord whipped out a revolver and fired—but he waited too long. The shot was a miss. Instantly the six set upon him and he was overpowered.

"Search the house!" roared the leader, and led the way while others held the landlord. After a little he came back saying, "We can't find them. He knows whar they be! Bring him out here by the barn and string him up!"

"Hold on, boys!" cried the landlord. "Come inside and you can have all the whiskey you want."

"Up with him, boys! We'll give him a twist or two just for luck. That will bring him to his milk."

During all this time Harry had been crouching in the barn, immensely troubled at the turn affairs had taken "I can nip that rope easy enough and they will never suspect." Opening the shutter he drew a bead on the rope and let fly just as the masks started to pull up the plucky Magee. Now Harry is a fine shot—but this time he missed. He pressed his weight against the shutter and at this instant it gave way and he pitched out of the window falling almost at the feet of the leader. In the confusion which followed Magee was forgotten. A search of the barn followed.

"If we can't get the old one, why, we'll have to be satisfied with the young one," the leader said. "Now for the doctor's. Fall in line boys. Let her go."

Then the gang dashed off down the street, Harry tied to the saddle of a little roan broncho, going along with the rest. In a few moments they had surrounded the cottage in which the doctor lived, and the giant leader was thundering on the door.

Old King Brady Sees Marshal Mundy.

It was not alone to save the horses that Old King Brady had ridden away from the barn. All in an instant it had come to him that Doctor Doniphan was in as great danger as they were. "These fellows are after the doctor's secret and I must give him the tip, if I can make it." So the old detective made a circuit of the town and wound up at the doctor's house.

In response to Old King Brady's knock the doctor answered the door. "Hello, Back again, Mr. Brady! What's the row?" he demanded.

"A gang has descended upon the hotel and undoubtedly after us. It would not surprise me if they were after you, too."

"Thunder! Wait a minute and I'll get my horse," and the doctor dashed after his horse.

Together the doctor and Old King Brady rode back to the hotel, stopping just out of sight. Just as they arrived the gang rode off with Harry in their midst.

"Confound the boy! Why couldn't he do as I told him," the detective fumed. "He must be rescued, that's all."

They rode out on the prairie and passed around the edge of the town until they were where they could get a good view of the doctor's house. It was as Old King Brady had predicted—the gang was there. They saw the masks go dashing away from the house heading out of town.

"We must be on the move, doctor," said the old detective.

They started out, but the led horse held them back a little and the gang began to gain on them. The case was growing hopeless.

"I think the best thing we can do is to let that horse go and catch up with them," said the doctor at last.

"We have as good as lost them," agreed Old King Brady. "But tell me, are we going in the direction of Deadman's Island?"

"Certainly we are; they are heading straight for the place."

"Let them go," replied Old King Brady, drawing rein. "Harry will take care of himself all right; something tells me that this will work out right in the end."

Morning found Dr. Doniphan and Old King Brady approaching a lonely ranch somewhat off the direct trail to Deadman's Island. The rancher was a patient of the doctor's and they were kindly received, given a good breakfast and liberally provided with provisions for future use. After an hour's rest they started again.

They reached the branch of the Arkansas River about 10 o'clock without knowing whether they were actually following the trail of the Butts gang or not. They came to a halt in a grove of cottonwoods. Deadman's Island was ahead of them across a deep gulf.

The river lay 40 feet below them and at no point was there visible a place of descent. They followed it to the southeast and were now directly opposite the island. It was covered with the most extensive cottonwood grove Old King Brady has ever seen.

"You have been here before, doctor?"

"Yes, several times, but I never followed the barranca up."

They walked on for over a mile. Soon the barranca had attained a depth of at least 200 feet.

"Well, we have struck the trial, all right," said Old King Brady at last. "That is one satisfactory thing."

"Now that you call my attention to it, I do see it," replied the doctor. "This is a big find."

The trail continued on to the point where the island ended and the barranca joined the Little Fork. Here it turned abruptly and ended right at the edge of the bluff.

"Look!" exclaimed Old King Brady. "Those fellows must have some sort of portable bridge and throw it across here where it is but little over twenty feet wide."

"We seem to have come to the end of our rope, Mr. Brady."

"Oh, no—we are just at the beginning of it. I think—down, man! Down!" Old King Brady dropped flat, pulling the doctor with him. "Look! There is a man walking about among the cottonwoods on the island."

The doctor looked and exclaimed, "It's Jim Mundy, Mr. Brady!"

Another chapter of this enthralling serial is in tomorrow's paper. Don't miss it.

SAN FRANCISCO

gay, cosmopolitan city and central gateway to California's glorious playgrounds . . . . . .

YOUR California vacation is made complete by San Francisco, one of the most colorful, romantic and beautiful seaport cities of the world. Here are ships from all the seven seas, fascinating bazaars, gay shops, world-famous hotels and restaurants, the largest Chinatown outside of China, summer symphonies, art and theatrical shows and outdoor sports. And this is America's coolest summer city with an average temperature during the summer months of 59°. No rain to mar a single day.

San Francisco is your vacation headquarters, for California's summer playgrounds are all easily accessible from here by railroad or motor car. Mt. Tamalpais and Muir Woods are just across the Bay. Yosemite is but seven hours by rail or motor car. The Monterey Peninsula with Monterey, first capital of California, sparkling Del Monte and quaint Carmel-by-the-Sea, is but five hours away. You find the giant Redwoods both north and south of this city. Lake Tahoe is twelve hours to the east. The High Sierra, mountain background of California, may be reached within a few hours. Lassen peak and Lassen Volcanic National Park are but nine hours by rail or a day and a half by motor from San Francisco.

To the south of San Francisco are broad beaches, orange groves covering the valleys and foothills, old missions and the headquarters of the motion picture industry, while northward are the "Evergreen Playground", the Puget Sound Country, the valley of the giant Columbia River, Crater Lake, and Mt. Shasta. Plan to see the entire Pacific Coast either by sidetrips from San Francisco or as you return at the end of your finest summer.

Plan now your summer, a vacation that will bring rewards in health, vigor and pleasure. A vacation, too, that may show you a better place in which to live and find new opportunity. To aid your plan, write for the free, illustrated book, "California Vacations", published by Californians Inc., a non-profit organization, whose sole purpose is to serve the guests of California.

A vocal arrangement of George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" will be sung by the Revelers Male Quartet as a feature of the Nation-wide Palmolive Hour at 8:30 o'clock. Frank Black, who made the special vocal transcription of Gershwin's orchestra piece, will be at the piano as the Revelers sing his new version.

Paul Oliver and Olive Palmer, vocal soloists of the hour, will again contribute romantic features in "My Dream Girl" and "Filles des Cadiz," respectively.

The program follows:

"El Relicario," ensemble; "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," soprano and tenor duet; "I Got a Rainbow," orchestra; "Ramona," Revelers; "Filles des Cadiz," soprano solo; "Dance Barbare," orchestra; "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," tenor solo; "Chloe," Revelers; "Blue Grass," orchestra; "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," ensemble; "By the Waters of Minnetonka," soprano and contralto duet; "Got a Feeling I'm Falling," orchestra; "My Dream," tenor solo; "Rhapsody in Blue," Revelers; "Who'll Buy My Violets?" soprano; "Alabamy Snow," orchestra, and selections from "Hit the Deck," ensemble.

Selections from the works of Ludwig von Beethoven will be included in the concert that Bernard Levitow and his orchestra will present in the Kolster Radio Hour from WMAL at 9 o'clock. The program will open with the first movement from the famous Pastorale, or Sixth Symphony. This was written between the years of 1806 and 1808. Another Beethoven contribution to this program will be the Scherzo from his string quartet, Opus 18, No. 4. Other numbers will include Chopin's "Valse Brilliante," the prelude to Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde" and Liszt's "Dream of Love."

George Rymer, tenor, will be guest soloist with the United Symphony Orchestra from WMAL at 8 o'clock.

The Rev. W. L. Darby, of the Federation of Churches, will be the speaker in the Community Chest program at 6:20 o'clock from WOL. Hook Kennedy, the Jolly Scot, will be heard at 7 o'clock. The Honolulans are scheduled for a recital an hour later.

WJSV will broadcast request numbers, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. In the half hour immediately preceding the Harmonious Twins will be the entertainers.

Summer Chic in the City

© VOGUE

The smart world of the gay nineties consistently denied that they were to be found in the city during the summer months. Their immediate followers kept up the tradition, surreptitiously slipping into town occasionally. But today, the city in summer claims many smart women, happily confined to it by work of some sort or flagrantly inviting excuses to return to it for periods of days or weeks.

And so every woman must consider her summer wardrobe in relation to city life. It may be gay, but meticulous, for no season so demands excessive care in each article that is assembled into a costume.

Perhaps of all summer costumes for town wear, the most charming—and certainly the most useful—is the silk suit. This appears in many guises, in dark colors worn with bright chiffon blouses, in prints combined with plain fabrics, and in smart combinations of plain colors. A very successful ensemble of this type is sketched here. Cravat silk in brown and white fashions both the dress and the ngertip length coat. Shaped seams give the dress a suave princesse silhouette, and a crossed vest of white silk pique adds the crisp, fresh touch so desirable in summer weather. The very chic hat that completes the costume for street wear is of fine French felt and has deftly cut wings. (Vogue Design No. 83338).

What Today Means to You

June 5.

By MARY BLAKE.

"GEMINI"

IF JUNE 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this day are from 8 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 6 a. m. to 7:30 a. m. and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m.

There will be a tendency on June 5 to neglect duty and work and to let things slide until some other time. It would be well to remember that it is easier to stem a brook than a river, and to conscientiously carry on in spite of the prevailing atmosphere of lethargy.

The child born on this day will take life very seriously, and will put its whole heart and soul into whatever it is doing. It will be an inveterate reader, and would rather have its nose in a book than take part in any play or sport.

The characteristic which dominates and to a large extent molds your character, is your stubbornness. It is true that you are very complacent and somewhat apathetic, but your complacency is many times only a symbol of your perverseness. You are not easily disturbed, because you have no intention at any time of jogging along at any different pace or way than the one you choose.

You should be closely allied to some one who will set fire to your emotions, who will destroy your complacency, hound your apathy and overcome your obstinacy. You do not talk really enough to be sociable, and too often only express yourself by monosyllabic grunts, instead of garnishing your conversation with interesting details. You do not strive to be rude, but you do not care enough about making yourself pleasing or agreeable, and you often lose friends on account of your indifference.

No one ever doubts your sincerity, your honesty or your honor. It is your manner and not your heart that is at fault. Your judgment is usually sound and to be trusted. You are generous, when your sympathies and interests are aroused. When antagonized, you are capable of being equally as unkind and cruel. You are not fair to those whom you dislike.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

GOLF.

Coordinate the wrists and arms
And golf's a game of many charms,
But let the wrists or arms betray
And golf's a round of deep dismay.

If you possess the strength of will
To hold your eager body still,
And do not let your shoulder fall
Then you may hit that little ball.

But should you look before you strike
The shot you make you will not like,
Or should you dip or bend or sway
You'll have another dreadful day.

If not too soon or not too late,
The club head you accelerate
The little pill will travel far
And you can shoot the course in par.

Golf is a simple game. The swing
Is after all the vital thing,
But strange it is and also true,
The trick is learned by very few.

I'd say of golfers as a whole
The thing we lack is self-control;
Struggle and practice as we may
We can not make our hands obey.

A bitter rivalry exists
Between our hands and arms and wrists,
Our strength our mental power disdains,
Our nerves are fighting 'gainst our brains.

Old habits battle with the new,
The hands refuse to follow through,
The arms resent the use of clubs,
We fight ourselves—that's why we're dubs!

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

JUNE 5.

MRS. AENEAS GUNN, the famous Australian author, was born this day, 1872. Her husband was a well-known Australian humorist.

Mrs. Gunn's first novel was "The Little Black Princess," in 1905. The book deals with life in Elsey Station, Australia, and treats entertainingly of the manners and customs of the natives. The Gunns lived in Elsey Station, which is located in the northern territory of Australia. The first book and "We of the Never Never" abound in pathos and humor, offset with rich local color, mastery of detail and ability to march the characters and events hand in hand.

Perle Crise" (gray pearl), a truly lovely and elegant summer coat of pale gray satin trimmed in matching fur. The dull side of the satin is used, with incrustations of the shiny face. Note the tiered skirt effect. Isn't it a dream? (Courtesy of the Maison Jenny, Paris.)

WE told you recently of the beautiful dresses worn by a star of the Paris stage. Another play produced in London, was "The Man in Dress Clothes," and while the title sounds as though one might expect masculine elegance rather than its feminine counterpart, the leading lady wore three very lovely outfits, which we must describe for you.

One was a stunning daytime ensemble of black, in a sort of panne velvet. The dress was very simple, fairly long and had a narrow belt at the normal waistline. The sole ornament was a strass buckle at the waist. The matching coat had long, tight sleeves, and was edged in beige fox fur, which also formed the collar. This was worn with a small black hat.

An afternoon dress was of soft ivory satin under ivory chiffon, cut and draped on very feminine lines, yet preserving a slim silhouette, which was further accentuated by a long V neckline to the waist, with a chiffon vest worn beneath.

Loveliest of all was an evening gown of printed chiffon, white patterned with pink roses in the new broken surface design. This was over a foundation of pink crepe de chine, bringing out the rose tones exquisitely. The bodice was closely fitting and had a bolero jacquette effect in front, which became a cape at the back. The bolero tied in front and the tightly fitting hip-yoke evolved into a crushed girdle with ends tied in a bow. The coat was of the same printed chiffon, with a white ostrich collar.

STOCKS AGAIN RALLY IN MODERATE BUYING

Two Score Issues Advance More Than 10 Points; Funds Are Slightly Firmer.

EARLY TRADING HESITANT

New York, June 4 (A.P.).—The stock market again rallied swiftly in moderate trading today. About two score issues were sent up from 4 to more than 10 points, but total transactions were but 3,414,210 shares, exceeding yesterday's small turnover by only about 400,000.

Comparatively easy call money, removal of the last obstacle in the way of the signing of the reparations agreement, proposal of a large appropriation to stabilize grain prices, further recovery of the grain markets, revived foreign buying of copper, and a resumption of the gold movement from London for the first time since early February, were factors promoting the rise.

Trading, however, remained largely professional, with the public showing little disposition to come back into the market, after the unpleasant experiences of the past month.

Call money was but slightly firmer than yesterday, renewing at 7 per cent, and holding at that rate all day. Rumors were again heard in bullish circles that Federal Reserve authorities were considering a relaxation of their grip upon credit, but these rumors were without confirmation, and bankers were inclined to the belief that any broad resumption of bullish operations would result in even firmer measures to keep credit from flowing into the stock market.

May Raise London Rate.

It was pointed out that the renewed flow of gold from London may again bring a higher discount rate at the Bank of England, which would remove one of the obstacles of a higher rediscount rate at New York. The London rate was raised early in February to check the flow of gold to New York then in progress.

While it is widely believed that the present Federal Reserve policy of rationing credit may be more effective than a higher rediscount rate, it is generally granted that a higher rate would have a serious psychological effect upon the market.

Fears that Monday's short coverings may have weakened the market's technical position, and disappointment over the stock exchange's member loan statement caused some hesitancy during the morning, but the market turned sharply upward during the afternoon. Copper, chemical, farm and office equipment, aviation and mail order shares were prominent in the rise. The recent buying movement in the rails and utilities, however, appeared largely to have spent itself for the moment.

Commercial Solvents Soar.

Commercial Solvents, which has developed a considerable following as result of its newly developed products, shot up 29 points to 365, returning to within 5 points of its record price. Case Threshing, Radio, American Machine & Foundry, Du Pont, Curtiss Aero, United Aircraft, Wright, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, National Cash Register, International Business Machine and Westvaco Chlorine were among issues mounting from 6 to 10 points.

Worthington Pump and Ingersoll Rand sold up about 6 points each on merger rumors. Optimistic estimates of steel earnings from the sustained demand during the second quarter sent U. S. Steel and Bethlehem up about 3 points each. Among the coppers, American Smelting, Kennecott, Greene Cananea and Magma gained about 3 to 4 points.

In the rails, Atchison fell back 3 points more on President Storey's statement that there is no near prospect of a stock dividend. Erie sold up to a new record price above 79, then lost its gain in realizing. Among the few soft spots, American Snuff and Motor Products each dropped 8 points to new lows. Atlas Powder and Crex Carpet lost 2 and 3 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, June 4 (A.P.).—Lightning that flashed out in earnest from Washington today set the grain markets ablaze at the last, and wheat prices whirled upward 6½ cents a bushel. Corn soared a maximum of 3½ cents and rye exactly 5 cents. Immense expansion of buying which accompanied the rise in prices followed instantly upon receipt of dispatches telling of administration plans to put into immediate use not one million or two millions of dollars for farm relief, but a full half billion, the entire appropriation to be authorized by Congress.

Closing quotations on wheat were excited at the day's topmost level, 3⅞ to 6¼ cents above yesterday's finish. Corn closed 3⅜ to 5⅛ cents up, rye 2½ to 5 cents advance, oats at 1½ to 1⅞ cents gain and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

Complete effects of the day's news from Washington apparently were yet to be witnessed, for the grain trade, even when the final gong cleared the brokers from the pits, were still unaware that definite action on immediate use of a half billion dollar appropriation was not merely planned but had already been taken by the conference committee of the Senate and House at Washington. However, enough was known to bring about general recognition that farm relief measures swiftly were being made ready for the President's signature, and that the whole of the vast sum of money furnished would be available without delay for any purpose which the judgment of the new national farm board would direct.

Announcement of this from Washington came dramatically at a moment when about half an hour before grain trading would cease, the wheat market was fluttering indecisively whether to advance or decline. Previous to arrival of the Washington news, wheat values had tended downward a good share of the time, influenced chiefly by unresponsiveness which the Liverpool market displayed regarding yesterday's advances on this side of the Atlantic and also by assertions that Argentine wheat could be obtained cheaper than wheat from the United States.

Commission houses, though, were prompt to take advantage of the early downturns of wheat prices and purchasing orders from this source brought about rallies which, however, until the final half hour were of a more or less transient character. Then came a storm of buying that overwhelmed opposition and the market sped forward like a cannonball. During the onward rush of prices that ensued many stop loss orders were forced into execution. On the other hand, the great majority of traders joyfully congratulated each other as they trooped out of the exchange.

Sympathy with the advance of wheat. Frost

Corn, rye and oats acted in thorough reports from some Illinois points also tended to strengthen the corn market.

Despite downturns in hog values, provisions turned upward with grain.

Reinstatement Denied Iowa By Big Ten

5-Hour Meeting Fails to Clear Status of University.

Iowa May Prove Good Faith and Escape Suspension.

Chicago, Ill., June 4 (A.P.).—The University of Iowa today lost the first skirmish in its fight to return to good standing in the Big Ten Athletic Conference.

After a five-hour meeting, during which three Iowa representatives promised to do everything possible to stop proselyting and subsidization of athletes, a special conference investigating committee ruled Iowa must wait until it can demonstrate its ability to stop these abuses.

The action carries some hope for Iowa nevertheless, as the expulsion order, voted by the conference faculty committee ten days ago, does not take effect until January 1, 1930. By that time Iowa hopes to prove its good faith and return to good standing without dropping a "Big Ten" team from its athletic schedule.

President Walter Jessup led the Iowa delegation seeking reinstatement as today's meeting, assisted by Prof. Louis Pelzer, Iowa's representative on the conference faculty committee, and E. T. Lauer, newly appointed director of athletics. Personnel of the investigation committee was Prof. James Paige, of Minnesota, chairman; Prof. Thomas E. French, of Ohio State, and Prof. George A. Goodenough, of Illinois.

Time Premature to Grant Iowa's Petition, Says Statement.

"The committee's opinion is that it is premature to grant Iowa's petition," a brief statement, issued by the committee, said. "Time must elapse. This will afford Iowa an opportunity to demonstrate her ability to make the resolutions of her governing body effective and to demonstrate to the conference that she can correct the present abuses."

Iowa showed no disposition to question the justice or propriety of the conference action, the statement added, and these questions were asked:

1. Can Iowa guard effectively the matter of scholarship eligibility?

2. Can Iowa eliminate the subsidizing of athletics by funds of various kinds and by the abuse of student notes?

3. Can Iowa restrain the alumni activities and maintain faculty control?

4. Is the athletic department willing to disqualify all present athletes who have received improper financial aid?

As the meeting was secret, the exact replies were not divulged.

Neither was it revealed that any request was made that Iowa remove George Bresnahan, track coach and supervisor of athletics. Charges have been made that Bresnahan has been sympathetic toward the alumni activity in subsidizing athletes.

The fourth question indicated that when and if Iowa is restored in good standing it will have to disqualify approximately ten athletes who are alleged to have been subsidized. Among these are Willis Glassgow, Mike Farroh, Oran Pape and Irving Nelson, football stars.

None of the Iowa representatives would discuss the decision today except to say Iowa was ready to "clean house" athletically and to abide by all rules of the conference.

Another meeting of the faculty committee is expected to consider another Iowa plea before the beginning of the fall semester.

YANKS IN 4TH WIN OVER CHISOX

Shires Gets 2 of 4 Hits Off Johnson; Faber Loses Duel, 4-2.

NEW YORK, June 4 (A.P.).—The Yankees made it four straight over the White Sox here today, winning the final game of the series by 4 to 2. The White Sox again hit feebly, and were mastered by Henry Johnson, who gave up only four safeties. The offensive total of Chicago for the four-game series was four runs and eighteen hits.

Red Faber also pitched a smart game, but gave up four hits and two runs in the opening inning. Gene Robertson made three more hits, giving him a record of six out of his last seven times at bat.

Lena Blackburne shook up his team, returning Art Shires to first base. Shires made two of the four Chicago hits.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 4 (A.P.).—The Braves smothered the Reds' attempt to pull them down into a last-place tie here today by knocking Luque and Erhardt from the box. Boston won, 4 to 1. Leverett limited Cincinnati to seven hits and held the home club scoreless until the final inning. Sisler led the Boston attack with four hits in five times up. Purchase of Atlanta Probable, Says Griffith

Atlanta, Ga., June 4 (A.P.).—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Club in the American League, arrived here today to "look over" the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association with a view to purchasing the club from R. L. Spiller, he said.

Mr. Griffith said he had come here on a telephoned invitation from Mr. Spiller to look over the club and that if it "looked good" he probably would buy it.

Mr. Spiller has set a price, Mr. Griffith said, but did not make known the figures.

TIGERS DOWN MACKS BY 8-4 SCORE

Stoner Halts Rally in 9th; 3 Home Runs Figure in Game.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 (U.P.).—After losing three straight to the Athletics the Detroit Tigers turned the tables in the final game of the series today and by taking and 8 to 4 decision stopped the league leaders' winning streak of six in a row.

The Tigers forged into the lead by hammering Quinn out of the box in the fourth inning in a batting flurry that netted four runs. Heilmann and Shea hit home runs off Orwell, each with one on base in the seventh and eighth innings respectively.

Dykes hit a home run with one on base in the home portion of the seventh. Sorrell was relieved by Stoner in the ninth when the Mackmen got to him for a run and the bases were filled with two out. Stoner retired Simmons for the last out on a pop foul.

Treasury Golf Team Wins Tourney

1-Point Margin Beats State Quartet for Mellon Trophy.

Individual Honors to Shipley With 151 for 36 Holes.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

BY the narrow margin of a single stroke, with four players on each team playing thirty-six holes, the Treasury Department team yesterday afternoon won the cup donated by Secretary Mellon which is the principal trophy in the annual tournament of the Interdepartmental Golf League, with the concluding round played yesterday on the Manor Club course. The winning team scored a total of 690 strokes as against 691 for the State Department. The members of the victorious quartet were J. R. Miller, J. J. Lynch, J. F. Phelan and Claude B. Allen, while the personnel of the State Department team included M. A. Shipley, E. P. Hair, J. I. Keating and J. F. Simmons.

Although Shipley was on the losing side so far as the Mellon trophy was concerned, he easily won the prize offered for the low gross score. In the morning round he had a card of 75 and in the afternoon a consistently good 76 gave him a total of 151, ten strokes lower than the 161 scored by T. M. Belshe, of the War Department, on the previous day. Shipley's card for the two rounds was as follows:

MORNING ROUND.
Out..... 7 4 4 4 4 4 4 6—41
In..... 4 3 3 4 3 5 5 3 4—34—75

AFTERNOON ROUND.
Out..... 6 2 4 5 4 3 4 3 5—36
In..... 5 3 4 5 6 5 4 4 4—40—76

Cubs' Homers Defeat Giants in Slugfest, 10-9

Chicago, June 4 (A.P.).—The Cubs shook off their batting lethargy here today, and although they failed by one hit to match the Giant total of fourteen, they sent enough of their drives over the fences to win the final game of the series from the New York Team by 10 to 9. Hack Wilson led the Chicago attack with two home runs as Hornsby, Grimm and Grace got one apiece. Edd Roush and Bill Terry hit for the circuit in behalf of John McGraw.

Art Nehf cracked under the strain, but Charlie Rect finished in an acceptable manner, the victory nevertheless going officially to Nehr. The New York pitching was split four ways among Fitzsimmons, Scott, Judd and Henry.

The victory was the first for the Cubs in the series after three defeats. It enabled them to hold third place in the pennant race. For the Giants the defeat ended a run of five straight victories.

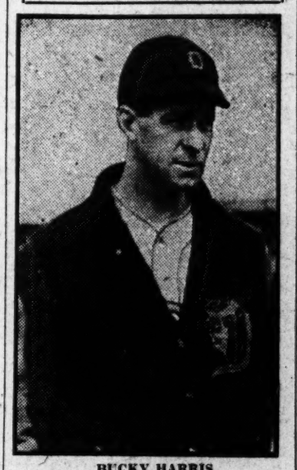
BUCKY RETURNS



BUCKY HARRIS.

HARRIS HERE TODAY WITH HIS TIGERS

Ex-Nat Manager Will Lead Slugging Team in 4-Game Series.

"BUCKY" Harris and his Detroit Tigers will be here to open a four-game series this afternoon and a banner midweek crowd is expected to turn out to welcome the Nats' former pilot on his first visit "home" since he was succeeded here by Walter Johnson. In addition to bringing a hard-hitting team which is getting good pitching, the erstwhile "boy manager" of the Nats will give Washington fans a look at two sensational rookies who have been cutting a swath this season.

One is First Baseman Dale "Hippo" Alexander, who earned the soubrette in the International League last season as the "right-handed Babe Ruth." With Toronto, he had an average of .382. He is hitting hard in the majors, but his fielding is nothing to write home about. He and Pitcher John Prudhomme, who also is making good, cost the Tigers $50,000, while Outfielder Roy Johnson, the other rookie who is starring as a regular, has proven himself really good in all departments of play. He had a price-tag of $75,000 on him, earning the reputation while with San Francisco last season as being one of the best players ever developed in the Coast League.

In the hope of stopping the Tigers this afternoon, Manager Johnson plans to star Fred Marberry on the hill and, if "Firpo" is right, the Harrismen will find themselves in plenty of trouble. Lil Stoner likely will toe the slab for the Tigers.

Volunteer Rookies Cluttering Up Nats' Locker Room.

So many rookies are volunteering to help out the Nationals these days that the regulars are having trouble finding room in the locker room. Five showed up for tryouts yesterday, two pitchers being of the shrinking violet type and declining to give their names. The other three were Pitchers John "Jocko" Conlin and Eddie Marosy and Infielder Logan Fowler.

Conlin, right-handed mound ace with Catholic University during the season just closed, looks to be the best bet. He is 22 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. Against Harvard Conlin fanned twelve men in five innings, while his average for the season was two earned runs per game, seven hits and six strike-outs. He is a righte hander.

Marosy is a southpaw flinger, who formerly played with Business High School, while Fowler is a third baseman, who plays with the American Railway Express Co. and Bond Bread Teams.

Sam Rice made a fine shoe-string catch of Blue's weak looper starting the third inning yesterday, but later in the same frame he cost his team a run by coming in too fast on Manush's drive, letting the ball bound over his head for a triple.

Pitcher Howard Cates, a tall, lanky right-handed pitcher, who has been playing with the Baltimore Internationals, worked out with the Nationals yesterday. If he shows Manager Walter Johnson anything, it is likely that he will be offered a contract, as it is understood that the Orioles are willing to talk terms. If Cates is not good enough for the International League, it is hardly likely that he can make the grade in the majors, however.

Dempsey Receives New Offer at Coast Meeting

Los Angeles, Calif., June 4 (A.P.).—Jack Dempsey's comeback plans went up for another balloon flight today and all the sports writers here had to show for cooling their heels outside the conference room for a couple of hours was that the former heavyweight champion had received an offer to return to the ring.

The one-time king of the heavies and officials of the Agua Caliente Co. got their respective heads together today on a proposition that would have Dempsey don his togs in a comeback bout at the resort in Mexico. Terms were discussed and an offer made to Dempsey, it was announced, but such basic details as "when, where and how much" were lacking.

The principals went into their huddle to the tune of rumors that Dempsey was to be offered sums ranging from $800,000 to $1,000,000. All Dempsey was supposed to do was to sign his name to a contract to fight an outstanding opponent at Agua Caliente, Mexico, about next November.

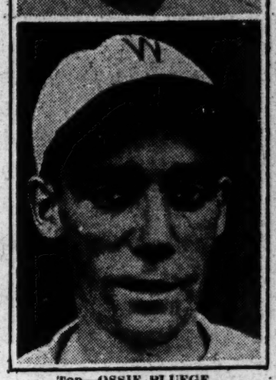
HAYES' SINGLE TIES AND BLUEGE STEALS HOME TO WIN GAME

THE HEROES



Top—OSSIE BLUEGE.
Bottom—JACK HAYES.

Liska Is Ineffective as Browns Gain 5-Run Lead in 4th.

Walter Beall, Capital Boy, Holds Foes to 2 Runs in Debut.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE story of the Nationals' 8-to-7 victory over the Browns yesterday is not that Manager Johnson's team won—which in itself has been a rather unusual occurrence this season—but how it won. As a matter of fact, the Browns themselves left here for Philadelphia last night wondering exactly what happened, for they went into the ninth inning with a comfortable five-run lead, and the only thing which prevented the Nats from striking a little faster was the delay while Howley was making two pitching changes.

Although Ossie Bluege probably is hailed as the Washington hero because he stile home with the sixth and winning run of the Nats' big inning, several of his mates come in for a share of credit, especially Jack (Sonny Boy) Hayes, who singled home two runs to tie the score with two out and to put Bluege in a position to contribute his history-making theft.

Bennie Tate, hitting for Ruel, started the Nats on their way with a line-single to left and Stuffy Stewart immediately replaced him on the runways. Flagstead, hitting for pitcher Walter Beall, lofted to left, but then Myer coaxed a pass and Rice came through with his third hit of the game to propel Stewart over the counting block. John Ogden, who had relieved Warren (Rip) Collins in the eighth, then walked both Goslin and West, forcing Myer home.

At this stage of the proceedings, he was sent to the weeping room in favor of Ed Strelecki, who found Cronin facing him. The latter scored a run with a force-out and Bluege, who hit for Gooch, who previously had replaced Judge, filled the bases by coaxing a pass. Then Hayes came through with his clean single shot, which knotted the count and advanced Bluege to third.

Nats Trailing, 7 to 2, When Final Rally Is Started.

Here the St. Louis pilot rushed to the field and waved Strelecki out of the game and Chad Kimsey to the mound. Kimsey let Hayes advance to second unmolested and, evidently figuring Bluege, who had been incapacitated because of an ailing knee, would take no liberties on the bases, went through with his lazy wind-up. He suddenly discovered his error, but not until he saw Bluege sliding over the home plate and Umpire "Big Shot" McGowan indicating that the runner was safe. There was a slight argument at the plate when Coach Jimmy Austin asked if Kimsey's delivery to Stuffy Stewart, the batter, was a strike, for two already had been called, but, as the pitch was low, there was no question in any one else's mind as to what it was. What went on before this great winning rally is of no particular interest. For the benefit of the curious, however, it might be mentioned that Adolph Liska, essaying a comeback after an absence of nearly three weeks because of a sprained ankle, was ineffective and granted the visitors five runs before being yanked in the fourth in favor of Walter Beall, former District sandlotter.

Beall Credited With Victory, After Relieving Liska.

Liska's last act was to force a run over the plate and Beall gave an encore when he relieved with the sacks still loaded and two out. He fanned Schang to end the inning, however, and then gave a good performance until a pass, O'Rourke's triple and a sacrifice fly cost him two runs in the visitors' ninth. It was Beall's first chance as a National and he was credited with the victory.

"Rip" Collins, who started on the hill for the Browns, pitched brilliant ball until he faltered in the eighth. He had simply breezed along and held the Nats to a single run, the result of Rice's double and Goslin's single, when he ran into trouble in the eighth. Myer opened his last frame with a double, and passes filled the bases, the second of these bringing Ogden from the bull pen. He wiggled out of the hole at the cost of but one run, the result of

BRITISH AWAIT TODAY'S TRADITIONAL EPSOM DERBY

Half a Million To Witness Classic

Race Feature Holds Appeal on Public After 150 Years.

Cragadour Picked to Beat Large Field of Colts.

By TOM CREEDON
(United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, June 4 (U.P.).—For three breathless minutes tomorrow afternoon, the pulse of the British nation will race in tune with the drumming of thoroughbred hoofs over a rolling sweep of dull green turf on Epsom Downs.

Half a million men, women and children—the toppered and jeweled gentry in the grandstand boxes, gypsies at the flaps of tents pitched on the undulating Downs within the circle of the track, grimy laborers in caps and neckcloths, swaggering a bit this year because of the recent victory at the polls, will catch a glimpse or more of the running of that greatest of the world's racing classic—the Epsom Derby.

Millions of others at the radio, which will carry to them the roar of the crowd as the lathered, straining 3-year-olds thunder up the last weary rise to the wire, will wait with fast beating hearts for the result.

And in faraway corners of the world men will be waiting for the word by cable that may make their fortunes.

Race Has Lost No Appeal to British After 150 Years.

After 150 years, the Epsom Derby has lost none of its appeal to Britons. It is at once a great racing fixture and a sporting spectacle. Your tram conductor, and the old woman who sells you a flower in Covent Garden, and no doubt the butcher's boy who whistles tunelessly as he scuffs up the graveled path, they all have a shilling or two on the derby.

At Epsom Downs on derby day the four corners of the empire meet, the burr of the north mingling with the sibilant slur of India and the Indies and the twang of the dominions. And if the derby itself is 150 years old, some of the costumes to be seen at Epsom on Wednesday will date back at least half as far.

Present indications are that there will be 32 starters in this year's derby, a number which will constitute the largest field in the history of the race.

Once more, Lord Astor, whose racing luck at Epsom is mercurial, owns the favorite, Cragadour, which will be ridden by Harry Jellias. Although Lady Astor, his lordship's equally mercurial better half, has advised the nation publicly not to back her husband's horse, the public, undeterred, has made Cragadour first choice at odds of 6 to 1.

Lord Astor has had notoriously bad luck in the derby, his horses having finished second no fewer than five times. He never has won the stakes, although a number of his entries have been strong favorites. In the Oaks, on the other hand, an affair for 3-year-old fillies to be contested at Epsom on Friday, Lord Astor has had three winners and a number of horses that have placed.

Cragadour, Favorite, to Have Large Following.

The English racing public is superstitious, but follows form religiously, and looks for Cragadour to win a first Epsom Derby for the popular nobleman.

The untimely death of Lord Rosebery, who won the derby back in 1894 with the short priced Ladas, a 2 to 9 shot, and the following year with Sir Visto, caused the scratching of Midlothian, one of the favorites this year.

Lord Derby, for whose family the race was named when it was established as a turf fixture back in 1780 when the English turned to racing to forget their troubles over-seas, has Hunter's Moon, a highly rated 3-year-old, in next Wednesday's classic. A victory for the earl would be nearly as popular as a royal victory.

King George is prevented by illness from attending, but if his health improves, the royal family will be represented.

Hunter's Moon, which will be ridden by Tom Weston, is fourth choice in the betting at the moment at 10 to 1.

The second favorite, a colt owned by John Burns named Kopi, is being heavily backed by those who consider Lady Astor's warning about Cragadour and the horse's recent lameness. Kopi's price now is 8 to 1. Then there is Maj. Dermot McCalmont's Mister Jinks, at 17 to 2.

Little Chance Is Seen For Outsider to Upset Dope.

Among these four—unless some outsider is to come rushing up the hill to snatch away victory—the derby of 1929 seems to lie. Outsiders priced as long as 100 to 1 have come through in the past to gladden the hearts of the bookies, but it is usually one of the favorites which is crowned with all the honors England reserves for victors in the sport of kings.

Following are the probable starters, owners, jockeys and current odds:

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHELYS, $3.58, $3.44, $2.58; VERMICULITE, $7.90, $3.92; DONORA, $4.38.

CHELYS, displaying a high order of early speed and lucky to get through on inside, drew out on the turn and, continuing gamely, had much to spare at end. VERMICULITE, badly outpaced to the head of the stretch where, taken to inside, closed strongly. DONORA, used up in early stages, came again near end and outfinished DORITA for the place. Latter went well for three-eighths, then began tiring. PERFECT ALIBI had no mishaps.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:06. Off at 3:10. Winner, Park View Stable's ch. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROYAL OMAR, $15.98, $7.80, $5.24; HIGH STORM, $5.50, $3.96; BLACK THUNDER, $8.64.

ROYAL OMAR, hustled into contention soon after start and saving ground on last two turns, responded gamely to punishment and held HIGH STORM safe at finish. Latter also saved all possible ground for entire trip, held on determinedly when challenged and only faltered in last few strides. BLACK THUNDER, outrun to the stretch, closed an immense gap after slipping through between leaders. CONGO II closed resolutely. FARGO was checked back on first turn, used up considerable energy in effecting position, weakened badly when the test came. NEVER BUST retired after five-eighths.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:34. Off at 3:37. Winner, Mrs. Jos. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DARK ANGEL, $16.56, $5.18, $4.30; COLORATURA, $4.10, $3.22; MARY McCLAIN, $3.66.

DARK ANGEL, well up from start and hard hustled, benefited by swerving over midway of the stretch and, responding gamely thereafter, drew out. COLORATURA raced in close quarters to the turn and slipped through on the turn and suffered much interference when the winner bore over midway of the stretch. MARY McCLAIN, void of usual early speed, was taken to outside and, escaping interference, held on to outlast MARIA NASH. Latter had to be taken up when interfered with and was tiring near end.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $5,000 added. The Inaugural Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:11. Off at 4:17. Winner, E. B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JOCK, $5.04, $3.54, $2.52; BROADSIDE, $4.16, $2.46; EASTER STOCKINGS, $2.76.

JOCK followed the pace under steadying restraint, took command midway of the stretch and, swerving to the inside, came again when straightened out to hold BROADSIDE safe. Latter, away poorly and forced wide most of the trip, closed with a belated rush and finished fastest of all. EASTER STOCKINGS, prominent from start and racing restrained to the stretch, began tiring last sixteenth and just lasted to hold third position. MARTINIQUE was slightly interfered with when tiring by JOCK and might have been third but for this. DUNMORE closed an immense gap last quarter. TYPHOON was sidewise when the start came. PARAPHRASE was very fractious at the post and began tiring after three-quarters.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:38. Off at 4:39. Winner, Four Oaks Stock Farm's br. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SISTER ZOE, $10.14, $5.04, $3.00; SMOLDERING, $3.60, $2.42; HOT SHOT, $3.06.

SISTER ZOE, outrun first quarter, moved up steadily when hard urged and, racing HOT SHOT into submission, drew out clearly last sixteenth. SMOLDERING, forward from start, was allowed to drop back at head of the stretch and, taken to outside, finished resolutely when urged. HOT SHOT was sent into a long lead on the stretch turn, but tired badly when put to a drive through stretch. AGITATOR went well. LITTLE COLONEL was raced wide throughout.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:15. Off at 5:21. Winner, Serenata Farm's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MINERVUS, $8.52, $5.04, $2.98; POLLYWOG, $4.36, $3.42; CREEK INDIAN, $2.54.

MINERVUS, rated in front all the way and under good handling, shook off repeated challenges and held opposition safe through stretch. POLLYWOG worked way up steadily with a loss of ground, came with a good burst of speed last eighth to overhaul CREEK INDIAN right at end. Latter, used up forcing pace and losing ground on outside, had nothing left when called upon for the drive. RESPOND, forward under steadying restraint, moved up determinedly on the turn, but was not good enough.

JUNIORS AND BOYS OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENT TODAY

Shore Seeks Second Leg On Trophy

Lyman, Last Season's Boys' Champion, in Junior Class.

Winners and Runners-Up to Compete in Midatlantics.

FRANK SHORE, one of the most promising young tennis players developed here in recent years, will defend his title in the junior division of the District of Columbia boys' and junior championship tournament starting today on the Sixteenth Street Reservoir courts. Jack Lyman, the boys' champion, however, will have to seek higher honors this year as he is over the 15-year age limit of the boys' section.

Shore has a big incentive. Last year he won the first leg on the Dumbarton Cup. He has to win three legs to gain permanent possession and he must win this year and next to turn the trick as he will graduate from junior ranks in 1931.

Randy Robinson, who was runner-up last year to Shore, will compete again. Bernard Welsh, Western High School net ace, who last week defeated Bob Considine in the City of Washington tournament, is also expected to seek Shore's title.

Contestants Will Report at Courts Ready to Play.

The list of entrants in each group will not be known until 3 o'clock this afternoon when all contestants must report at the courts ready to play. No entries will be accepted after that hour, Robert E. Newby, newly chosen successor to Paul Harding as chairman of the schedule and sanction committee of the Middle Atlantic Tennis Association, announced last night.

Boys who were not 18 years of age before January 1, 1929, are eligible to compete in the junior tourney. Those not 15 years of age before that date may enter the boys' division. The entry fee for each player is $1.

The winner and runner-up in each section will be sent to Norfolk at the expense of the Middle Atlantic Association to represent the District in the Middle Atlantic tournament starting June 20. Although only singles are played in the local tourneys, the winner and runner-up in each group are paired in doubles play in the sectional tournament.

Quite a number of other teams were entered but were rendered ineligible for competition by reason of the withdrawal of one or more of their members. At the conclusion of the tournament the golfers held a dinner at the Manor Club when the prizes were distributed.

Davidson has cards of 82—79, while Worthington Frailey has scored 85—01. A McCook Dunlop, who had an 88 in the opening round, yesterday withdrew.

The Army women golfers administered an overwhelming defeat to the Navy women golfers in the team match played yesterday on the course of the Army, Navy and Marine Club, winning by 21 points to 3, as follows:

Mrs. J. M. Hodges (Army), 2½ points; Mrs. A. P. Merrill, ½ point. Mrs. H. A. Knox (Army), 3 points; Mrs. Oscar Smith (Navy), 0. Mrs. Frank Keefer (Army), 3 points; Mrs. D. C. Swain, 0. Mrs. Charles Thompson (Army), 3 points; Mrs. I. Caldwell (Navy), 0. Miss Ruth Gullion (Army), ½ point; Mrs. Kilduff (Navy), 2½ points.

The residents of Wesley Heights will participate tomorrow in a community golf tournament played on the course of the Congressional Country Club. Competition will be on a handicap basis for a trophy offered by W. C. & N. A. Miller and will be limited to bona fide residents of Wesley Heights. Dr. Charles L. Smith is chairman of the golf committee, the other members being Frank E. Johnson, Dr. Thomas D. Webb, Charles H. Hillegeist, Frederic H. Butcher and C. Melvin Sharpe. A clubhouse dinner will follow the tournament.

Women golfers of the Indian Spring Club held a Scotch foursomes event yesterday in which Mrs. W. H. Harvey and Miss Florence Scott won low net honors by one stroke in a play-off after having tied with Mrs. J. F. Gross and Miss Ada Morrison with rounds of 82. Low gross honor went to Mrs. P. B. Hoover and Miss Peggie Nestlerod, who had a card of 101.

C.U. CAPTAINS IN 2 SPORTS NAMED

Oscar Gerth to Lead Trackmen; Murphy Heads Nine.

OSCAR GERTH and Gene Murphy, two of Catholic University's star all-around athletes of the past three years, were yesterday elected to captain varsity teams next season, their last in athletic competition at the Cardinal institution. Gerth will lead the track team and Murphy will captain the diamond squad.

Gerth, who, despite his shortage of avordupois, has been a mainstay with Cardinal teams on the gridiron and track for three years. He also shone with the Freshmen diamond aggregation back in 1927. Murphy has been a shining light in football, boxing, baseball and track. Both have been active in extra curriculum affairs.

Gerth, a 135-poundeer from Philadelphia, played at end with the grid squad and was high point scorer with the track and field team. The low and high hurdles are his specialty. He also counted points in the javelin and broad jump in several meets. Only last week he was elected president of the Athletic Association for 1929-30.

Both New Captains Leaders In Respective Classes.

Murphy, a native son of Manchester, N. H., was one of the leading hitters with the McAuliffe-Clark diamond squad this spring. He also has a reputation as a fleet fly chaser and a natural leader.

Murphy will be vice president of his class next year and was president in his sophomore year. Gerth was vice president of his class this year.

Capt. and Mrs. Rowan In 3d Doubles Round

Capt. and Mrs. Hugh Rowan advanced to the third round of the mixed doubles yesterday in play of the City of Washington Tennis Tournament on the Reservoir courts when they defeated Mr. and Mrs. Deane Judd, 6—8, 6—4, and 6—2, in a first round match and benefited from Adkins and Baetzner's default in the second round.

There will be three matches today, starting at 5 o'clock, all in the third round. Myers and White will play Dunham and Wilton; Frazier and Hills will engage Crews and Crews, while Guilfond and Seidel will pair against Moorhead and Rutley.

Pop Lannigan, Veteran Virginia Coach, Resigns

Charlottesville, Va., June 4.—Henry H. Lannigan, veteran coach of track and basket ball at the University of Virginia, has resigned from the position he has held for 25 seasons. In recognition of his faithful service over a quarter of a century the athletic council has retired him on a substantial pension.

"Pop" Lannigan, as he had been known to more than a generation of Virginia students and alumni, has not been in the best of health for several years, and his resignation is not unexpected. His successor will probably be named in a few weeks.

Philadelphia, June 4 (U.P.).—Maurine Orcutt, metropolitan and Eastern women's golf champion, maintained her five-stroke lead in defense of the latter title today as the second eighteen holes were completed at the Aronimink Golf Club. She had an 84 for a total of 162.

Helen Hicks, New York girl, hit her stride today and scored an 80. Three under par added to 87 of the day before she had 167 and is the only other player besides Miss Orcutt to be under 170.

Tribe Beats Red Sox, 4-0; Zinn and Fonseca Star

Boston, June 4.—Lou Fonseca's batting gave Cleveland four runs, while Jeff Zinn was allowing the Red Sox only five hits today, and the Indians defeated the Bostonians, 4 to 0.

In the first inning Fonseca drove the ball over the left-field fence after Jamieson had doubled. In the fourth Tavener and Zinn singled. After an infield out Fonseca singled, scoring the two runners.

Cardinals and Robins Divide in Double Bill

St. Louis, June 4 (A.P.).—The Cardinals lost half a game of their lead to the victorious Pirates and Cubs by dividing a double-header against Brooklyn here today, but, nevertheless, remained in first place by a comfortable margin. The National League champions took the first game behind the fine pitching of Jess Haines by 3 to 1, but permitted Brooklyn to romp off with a decision by 11 to 8 in the nightcap.

Douthit's single and Bottomley's home run decided the first game against Watson Clark in the seventh inning. The second clash saw the rout of both Alexander and Moss, rival starting pitchers, netted Chick Hafey his twelfth home run and Harvey Hendrick twice hit over the right-field barrier to drive home six runs.

RICE GAINS PLACE AMONG "BIG FIVE"

Cronin's sacrifice, but flivvered in the next canto, as already mentioned.

Johnson called on seventeen players during the contest. Rice continued his hitting spree, getting three safeties and earning himself a place in the league's "Big Five," while Cronin was credited with a double and single. Collins led the allen attack with a double and two singles, with four other Brownies getting two hits apiece. The fielding features were contributed by O'Rourke, Myer and Rice, with that of the first-named costing Hayes another hit and the Nats two runs. It was a fine one-hand stop which ended the Nats' rally in the eighth.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS LEAD BRISK TRADING

European Loans Continue Upward; Few Issues Remain Weak.

FEDERAL LIST IRREGULAR

New York, June 4 (A.P.).—The most active bond market in more than two months today saw convertibles absorbed in large volume at generally higher prices and a further advance in European issues, particularly the obligations of German states, municipalities and industries.

Word that the reparations agreement awaited only the signatures and that time money was holding at 8½ per cent, 1 per cent below the high rate prevalent about a week ago, brought substantial buying orders into the market. Although the best inquiry was for the stock privilege issues and the foreign bonds, domestic securities of all grades attracted considerably more attention than they were receiving in the recent dull sessions.

The Associated Press averages showed that the best gains had been made by the first and second grade rails and the industrials, with the utilities holding close to yesterday's levels. The composite average for 40 bonds in these four categories stood at 94.28 against the low of 93.99 on May 29.

Advances of 1 to more than 2 points were frequent in the list of German obligations. The Central Agricultural Bank issues were again popular, but good demand also appeared for the Rhinelbe Union 7s, the issue with warrants mounting 2⅝.

Belgian issues were steady, while the French Republic bonds suffered inconsequential losses, also on profit taking. They closed substantially above the year's lows.

American Telephone convertible 4½s changed hands in a total volume of nearly $1,500,000, par value, at a net advance of 1¾, while the International Telephone issue of the same coupon rate advanced more than half a point. Atchison 4½s, another active stock option bond, lost a point. Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants, were up slightly on sales of more than $1,000,000, par value.

One of the few noticeably weak spots in the general list was the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron 6 per cent obligation, which broke 4¾. The decline was attributed to dissolution of the syndicate which has been supporting the issue, offered in March.

Rails of all grades were better taken and numbers of the mortgage issues advanced. In the speculative group St. Paul adjustment 5s moved up 1⅜ and the 5s advanced a point.

International Cement 5s, Goodyear Tire & Rubber and Republic Brass 6s were industrials attracting attention, but held close to Monday's close.

United States Government bonds were irregular on the best inquiry in some time.

Sales amounted to approximately $13,000,000, par value, against $9,654,000 yesterday. Of the total, about $4,000,000 was accounted for by the convertibles.

SENATORS TO SPEED INQUIRY OF ALLEGED REALTY "WATERING"

Blaine to Set Date for Opening Hearing to Study Charges of Investors.

MANY SAY OPERATORS HERE MULCTED THEM

Brookhart Receives Mass of Letters—"Questionable" Methods Are Alleged.

The senatorial investigation of real estate financing operations here will get under way as soon as Congress recesses, according to indications last night after a resolution authorizing the investigation had been adopted by the Senate.

Senator Brookhart (Republican), of Iowa, who first suggested the investigation, said that he expected Senator Blaine (Republican), of Wisconsin, to set a date for the opening of the inquiry as soon as he can learn definitely when Congress will start its recess.

Blaine, chairman of a District subcommittee detailed to conduct the investigation, recently left for Wisconsin, leaving Brookhart to handle the resolution in the Senate. He is expected back in the near future.

Brookhart announced last night that he had received a mass of letters from investors who claim they have been mulcted by local real estate operators. These letters, he said, came from a number of States and also from the District of Columbia. He plans to turn them all over to Blaine's committee.

The resolution which was adopted by the Senate yesterday was drafted by Blaine and was a substitute for one that had been introduced by Brookhart. In writing his resolution Blaine left out the name of a particular real estate firm and called for an investigation much broader in scope than had been asked by Brookhart.

The resolution alleges that mortgages have been issued here calling for much more money than the value of the property on which they are based, and also alleges "questionable means and methods" whereby these mortgages are sold to innocent investors.

Capt. F. W. Hoover, manager of the Welfare and Recreational Association, said that he did not know when the McKinley Junior High School pool would be opened. The work on the pool is completed, but a fence is being erected around it and until this is done the date of the opening of the pool can not be announced.

Woman May Fill Central High Post

Miss M. P. Bradshaw Held Selection of Committee for Principalship.

Speculation, without any authoritative foundation, ran high yesterday to the effect that Miss M. P. Bradshaw, assistant principal of Business High School, will be recommended by the personnel committee of the Board of Education for the principalship of Central High School when the board meets this afternoon.

Miss Bradshaw had been favorably recommended to the personnel committee, which met yesterday to select a candidate for recommendation, but so had a number of others, among them L. G. Hoover, assistant principal of Central High, and Norman J. Nelson, former assistant at Central, now on leave for a fellowship at Harvard University.

The personnel committee kept a stoic silence to all overtures from the press and friends alike and declared their recommendation would not be announced. However, the board is expected to announce its choice at the meeting today.

Thompson was found guilty of first-degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Elsie Bowen, also colored, two years ago. The Government was represented in the case by Assistant District Attorney John Fihelly.

CATHEDRAL SCHOOL AWARDS DIPLOMAS

Exercises Are Held at Bethlehem Chapel for Graduating Girls.

ADDRESS BY DR. PETER

Christian leadership as a goal for one's ambitions was outlined to the graduates of the National Cathedral School for Girls at the graduation exercises held in Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral by the Rev. Dr G. Freeland Peter, canon of Washington, yesterday morning.

Dr. Peter reminded the members of the graduating class, who presented an attractive picture in their white silk academic robes and white mortarboards, that many of life's battles are fought and won in the classroom. He declared that true leadership is contained often in having a single motive, a consecrated will and an absolute reality of life, and pointed out in conclusion that the highest things in life can be reduced to action always.

The service which preceded the address and the presentation of the diplomas to the graduates by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, was read by the Very Rev G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington, the Rev. E. P. Wroth, chaplain of the National Cathedral School for Girls and the Rev. Dr. William L. DeVries, canon and chancellor of Washington Cathedral.

The candidates for graduation were presented by Mrs. Marvin B. Rosenberry, acting principal of the school. Miss Mabel B. Turner, the new principal of the National Cathedral School for Girls was present at the graduation exercises.

The organist for the service was J. Willis Conant, instructor of music at the school for many years. The Te Deum in D flat sung by the students yesterday morning was composed by Mr. Conant.

Man Driving Auto Dies at Car Wheel

Companion Saves Crash by Taking Control; Heart Disease Blamed.

Milton Mantz, 51 years old, an electrician who lived on a chicken farm near Waldorf, Md., died early last night of heart disease in his automobile, en route from Waldorf to Washington.

His companion in the automobile, Myron Newmarch Scribner, 25 years old, of Brookmont, Md., noticed Mantz slumping in the seat of the automobile and relieved him of the wheel, according to police who investigated. Scribner drove on to Washington and noticing the pallor on Mantz's face, took him to Casualty Hospital, where Dr. J. W. Jordan pronounced him dead.

Scribner then drove the automobile with the body toward the District morgue. On the way two tires on the machine blew out in front of 420 third street southwest, frightening Scribner, who had the body in the seat beside him. A patrol of the Fifth Precinct was summoned and removed the body to the morgue.

Miss Stinnes, on World Auto Trip, Is Received by Hoover

German Industrial King's Daughter Arrives in Capital in Company With Swedish Sportsman After 29,000 Miles of Travel Over Good and Bad Roads.

Clarenore Stinnes, daughter of the late Hugo Stinnes, German industrial king, who is completing an automobile trip around the world, was congratulated by President Hoover at the White House yesterday. In company with C. A. Soderstrom, Swedish sportsman and motion picture enthusiast, Miss Stinnes has already covered 29,000 miles over good, bad and almost impassable roads in different countries and has encountered a variety of adventures.

She left Berlin in May, 1927, in a 45-horsepower Adler sedan, which she has driven the entire distance, while her companion has followed with a truck of the same make carrying supplies and equipment. From Berlin, Miss Stinnes has driven from Constantinople, through Asia to Syria, thence to Persia, up to Moscow, through Siberia, Mongolia, China and Japan before taking the steamer in May, 1928, to Peru. From Peru she drove over the Andes to Bolivia, thence to Argentina and back to Chile before taking the boat at Panama for Los Angeles and coming East by a circuitous route which covered 10,000 miles and enabled her to visit 38 cities, including Vancouver.

Miss Stinnes, who is 28, has lost about 30 pounds in weight, but otherwise feels no ill effects from her daily trips over a period of two years from sunrise to sundown. She began the trip for no other purpose than to see the world and satisfy an impulse for adventure. She leaves on the Paris for France on June 14 and expects to be back in Berlin on June 23. Her present advice to young women would be against undertaking such an ambitious adventure.

At times the roads were so bad, especially in China and Peru, that she was compelled to use large quantities of dynamite to blast a pathway for her progress. Her slowest day's journey was 450 feet by dint of 18 hours' work.

She was pursued by bandits in China, went four days without food, and was compelled to drink the radiator water. She got lost crossing the Andes in South America and was stalled for 2½ months in Peru after a collision which necessitated procuring new parts for her automobile.

Her average speed was about 230 miles a day, though on some days she covered 360 miles. No serious engine trouble and relatively few punctured tires bothered her.

Miss Stinnes was entertained by the American Automobile Association at luncheon yesterday and today will be the luncheon guest of the German Ambassador.

CIVIC CENTER LAND REQUEST IS PLACED IN HANDS OF HOUSE

Resolution, Introduced by Simmons, Is Expected to Pass in Ten Days.

NO OPPOSITION IS SEEN TO $3,000,000 FUND

Favor of Hoover Is Obtained by Representative at Conference.

A joint resolution to appropriate $3,000,000 for the purchase of ground for Washington's proposed municipal center was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Simmons (Republican), of Nebraska, and there is now every indication that it will pass within the next ten days.

Before he introduced the resolution, Representative Simmons wrote a letter to President Hoover requesting him to submit to the House a budget estimate for the $3,000,000. Once this is done through the Bureau of the Budget, the way will be cleared for passage of the resolution.

Thanks to the interest and energy of Representative Simmons, there is now no known opposition to the $3,000,000 appropriation. What opposition existed the Nebraskan swept aside in a few bold strokes.

Appeals to President.

When it was reported that the Bureau of the Budget would disapprove the $3,000,000 estimate on the ground that it was not an emergency matter, Simmons hastened to the White House and appealed to President Hoover to approve the item. What happened after that is best explained in a letter which Simmons wrote to the President yesterday. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. President: After my conference with you yesterday regarding the appropriation of $3,000,000 at this session to be used in the purchase of ground for the municipal center, and according to your suggestion, I had a conference with Speaker Longworth and Mr. Tilson. I also have conferred with Mr. Wood, Mr. Garner and Mr. Byrns.

"I explained to them the situation as I explained it to you, and they advised me that they would have no objection to your submitting a budget estimate for an appropriation at this session. I trust that that may be done."

Thus, the President is for the resolution, the House leaders are for it, the leaders of the House appropriations committee are for it, and, as soon as Mr. Hoover says the word, the Bureau of the Budget will be for it.

Sees Saving in Speed.

Passage of the resolution immediately, Simmons believes, will result in a considerable saving to the taxpayers of the District. The Nebraskan has time and again seen real estate prices here boosted while Congress was procrastinating in providing the money.

The property that is sought for the municipal center is bounded by Third and Sixth streets, Pennsylvania avenue, Louisiana avenue and Indiana avenue. Within this area will be built a number of handsome buildings to house the various activities of the District government.

In drafting his resolution yesterday, Simmons specified that out of the $3,000,000 the sum of $10,000 should be used to hire an architect and whatever other experts may be needed to carry out the municipal center project.

Girl-Wife, 18, Opens Annulment Action

Plaintiff Says That Rite Was Forced on Her Four Years Ago.

Mrs. Beulah Limerick Aitcheson, 18 years old, of 4 Sixth street northwest, petitioned the District Supreme Court yesterday to annul her marriage to William Earl Aitcheson, of Laurel, Md., on the ground that she was forced to go through with the ceremony when only 14 years old.

The marriage took place July 4, 1925 at St. Marys, Md., she said, and she was threatened with confinement in a District juvenile institution unless she agreed to marry Aitcheson. They lived together until September 7, 1926, according to the complaint.

The girl wife also charged Aitcheson with cruelty and overindulgence in intoxicating liquors. She also declared that her husband continuously associated with other women and that she left him as soon as her fear of confinement in the juvenile home was dispelled. The suit was filed through the plaintiff's mother, Mrs. Dora Limerick as next friend by Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and F. Joseph Donohue.

$7,500 Given to Woman Hurt on Traction Track

Mrs. Geneva B. Mattingly, clerk, of the Department of Commerce, accepted a compromise of $7,500 damages for personal injuries yesterday from the Capital Traction Co.

Mrs. Mattingly complained to the company that she was injured on November 12, 1926, when she stepped into a depression between the company's car rails at Nineteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. She was represented by Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer.

$4,000 in Goods And Cash Stolen

Burglars Loot 2 Business Places; Safes in One Forced Open.

Police yesterday were seeking burglars who broke into two Washington establishments and purloined goods and cash amounting to $4,000.

The depredations occurred at Breslau, Inc., 1307 G street northwest, where $3,500 worth of gowns, dresses and furs were taken, and at the Stevens & French Tile Co., 2473 Sherman avenue northwest, where the combinations of two safes were knocked off and $130 taken.

The Breslau concern was entered by a ladder through a front-door transom. The stolen property was brought through the transom. The tile company was entered through a rear door. Both robberies are believed to have taken place shortly before dawn yesterday.

Police Chief Planning To Dismiss Informers

Will Talk to Doran Today About Dry Aids, After Rover Hits System.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, will confer tomorrow with Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran for the purpose of inaugurating a new system in the making of purchases in liquor cases in the District.

This action is made necessary, Pratt said last night, because of the recommendation yesterday by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover that the use of the paid informer system of gathering evidence in liquor cases be discontinued.

If the Police Department discontinues the use of paid informers in liquor cases, Pratt pointed out, it will be necessary to establish a new system to gather the necessary evidence, and he indicated that the Federal Prohibition Department would be called upon to furnish the men to take the place of the paid informers.

It would be impracticable to use the men now enrolled in the local liquor squads to make purchases because they are well known by the bootlegging fraternity, Pratt pointed out. It is expected that he will recommend the transfer of several prohibition "under cover" agents to aid his force in gathering the evidence in future liquor cases.

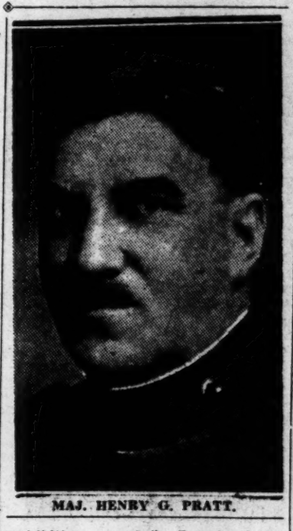
Rover's recommendations were made in reply to a complaint of Capt. Fred M. Cornwell, of the Fourth Precinct, that members of the district attorney's office refused in Police Court to take action in three recent liquor cases because police informers were used in working up the cases.

"The only practical use of the informer is to ferret out places where liquor is unlawfully kept or sold. Thus locating such places, the actual evidence of sale and possession should be obtained through police officers and prohibition agents," Rover's letter stated.

"This will result in a higher percentage of convictions and a corresponding decrease in the number of nolle prosses and acquittals in the courts."

The plan of doing away with the "stool pigeons" and detailing "undercover" policemen and dry agents to the task of gathering evidence in liquor cases was recommended by United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage last September, following the arrest of an informer on a charge of perjury. Prior to the arrest, seven other informers were arrested on perjury charges.

In a recent report the District grand jury also recommended the abolition of the informers.



MAJ. HENRY G. PRATT.

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover and Representative J. M. Robsion, of Kentucky, will be the principal speakers today at the quarterly convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the Sherwood Presbyterian Church, Twenty-second street and Rhode Island avenue northwest.

Zoning Board Will Hold Hearing on Restrictions

Whether fire engine houses, police stations, pumping stations, public playgrounds, public recreation centers and public swimming pools are to be permitted within residential areas will be considered by the zoning commission at a public hearing in the board room in the District Building at 10 o'clock this morning.

Nine proposed changes in the zoning of various properties also will be considered by the commission.

Organization Will Discuss District Budget Matters Next Tuesday.

22 NEW MEMBERS VOTED

The board of directors of the Washington Chamber of Commerce ratified the Cherry Blossom Festival committee report at its meeting last night and authorized the appointment of an executive committee to proceed with plans for the holding of the festival when next the double cherry blossoms bloom again.

A meeting was set for June 11 for various committees of the chamber to discuss the District of Columbia budget and taxation. The board also voted to recommend to the Government the consolidation of foreign trade activities in the Departments of State and Commerce.

Visiting members of the Tulsa, (Okla.) Chamber of Commerce, who will arrive in Washington on June 20, will be entertained with a joint meeting of the two chambers, probably a luncheon, it was said.

Twenty-two new members, formerly elected by the membership committee, were ratified by the board.

William Cullen Dennis, of 3 West Underwood street, Chevy Chase, Md., international lawyer and former assistant solicitor of the State Department, was elected president of Earlham College, his alma mater, Richmond, Ind., by the board of trustees at Indianapolis yesterday. His record was then exhibited and Gatti admitted that he had been convicted on April 1, 1927, of selling and possessing liquor. Justice Gordon refused the papers under a provision of the law by which an alien must prove good character and obedience to the laws of this country for five years prior to being admitted to citizenship.
